TEST CONVICT 'ROASTERS' IN PRISON BLOCK

Probers of Steam Deaths of 4 Prisoners, to Stay in Punishment Cells.

THEY'LL 'TURN ON HEAT'

Investigators to Subject Selves to Same Torture Inmates Suffered.

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA—Pennsylvania prison investigators said today they would "turn on the heat" and enter the stuffy cells where four hunger-striking convicts suffocated, to learn whether the punishment cell block was "a deliberately planned roaster."

Charles I. Engard, secretary of welfare directing the state's investigation of the deaths in the Philadelphia county prison Monday, disclosed that men from his office and two state policemen would make the test.

Described as 'Horrible.'

He said they would subject themselves to the same conditions the prisoners faced in the heated cells termed as horrible as the Black Hole of Calcutta.

William B. Mills, superintendent of the prison, said if the building was deliberately planned as a "roaster," he was unaware of it.

Coroner Charles A. Hersch announced he would ask Gov. George H. Earle for state troopers to take over the prison during the investigation.

With two guards already being held as material witnesses in connection with the case, the district attorney was in sole charge of the investigation. He took control of the case after Coroner Hersch charged that the arrest of the two guards yesterday by city police was premature. It was the first time a case had been taken from the police and given to a district attorney in 20 years.

Bail Set at $2,500.

The guards, Alfred W. Brough, 29, and Francis Smith, 43, were held in $2,500 bail each for further hearings next Tuesday.

Hersch said the arrests, ordered by Mayor S. Davis Wilson, were made without his knowledge. He declared the action temporarily halted triple investigations by himself, the district attorney and the state, inasmuch as the two guards had volunteered information and that now they "don't have to talk unless they want to because they are defendants."

Warden William B. Mills, who has claimed that "not a violent hand was laid on the prisoners," said "someone as yet unknown closed the windows in the cell blocks and turned on the steam radiators." The radiators are in a corridor outside the cells, he said, and could not be reached by any prisoners.

Probing Prison 'Steam Deaths'

Here are two of the principal figures in the investigation of the deaths of four inmates of Philadelphia county prison. At top, Coroner Charles Hersch, who charges that the men were scalded to death in an airtight cell block, under orders from a prison official, is questioning Mrs. Helen Osborn, widow of one of the four dead convicts. At bottom is Warden William B. Mills, who has flatly denied that any steam or hot water were used on the men.

HARMONY IN AIR AS G. O. P. NAMES HARDY

Probate Deputy Picked County Executive Chairman by Acclamation.

NO HINT OF DISPUTE GIVEN

Committee Pledges Support for Entire Ticket in Fall Election.

Ralph M. Hardy, a county probate court deputy, today took over the leadership of the Republican party in Richland county, succeeding Glenn L. Bierly.

Hardy, an ally of former Mayor Earl A. McFarland, and central committee chairman for the past two years, was elected chairman of the county executive committee last night by acclamation at the group's organization session at party headquarters in the Mohican building.

Model Session.

The session was a model of harmony with not a hint of dispute over the election of officers. Members of the committee pledged 100 per cent support of the complete Republican ticket in the county, district and state.

McFarland, who defeated R. B. Gardner for the state central committee post from the 17th district at the primary Aug. 9, nominated Hardy for the executive chairmanship.

Atty. Stuart H. Cramer was re-elected secretary of the committee, and T. R. Barnes, a veteran of many county G. O. P. wars, was chosen treasurer. He succeeds G. Fred Altaffer, treasurer for the past several years, who was removed from the committee in the "purge" at last Saturday's meeting. James E. Warrack was elected vice chairman.

Retiring Chairman Absent.

Bierly, who was elected executive chairman last January after Carlton S. Fernyak resigned, withdrew several days ago and did not attend last night's meeting. Cramer was temporary chairman until Hardy was elected.

Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, executive committee member, sounded the keynote of the county Republicans in the November campaign, calling for a complete mobilization of the party's forces behind the county, district and state candidates.

"Only a change of parties at Columbus can bring a clean-up of the state administration," Judge Anderson said, "and the way to help John W. Bricker to be governor is to work for him in county precincts and eliminate any bitterness in the party ranks.

Hardy appointed Atty. J. V. Will, Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch and Arliss F. Porter as a resolutions committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws to present at a meeting of the committee next Tuesday night.

At that time, the committee will plan for enlarged headquarters and elect two additional members of the executive committee to bring the total to 31, Hardy said.

On Stand Again

Although he admitted he had been a perjurer, a gangster and a crook, George Weinberg, above, who testified that the Dutch Schultz lottery gang had paid James J. Hines, Tammany leader, for political protection, withstood more than two hours of cross-examination by Hines' attorneys yesterday. He was due to return to the witness stand again today, for resumption of cross-examination.

LAWYER SAYS EX-MOBSTER STOLE PROFITS

Charge Meets Denial From Weinberg Terming Hines as 'Fixer' He Paid.

STORY UNDER ATTACK

Defense Seeks to Discredit Witness as Perjurer at Policy Game Trial.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Lloyd Paul Stryker, defense counsel for James J. Hines, today accused George Weinberg, prosecution witness, of stealing $300,000 from the Dutch Schultz policy racket in 1933-1934.

Stryker, shouting his charge, elicited a stout denial from the gangster who had "put the finger" on Hines as political fixer for the gang.

Weinberg had testified that, in a period of 156 days, the policy racket had profited to a net of $780,000, once the mob began fixing the numbers at race tracks in New Orleans and Cincinnati.

Got $275,000 More.

From this profit, he said, Schultz took $275,000 in addition to his "regular take" but was vague about the remaining amount of approximately $500,000. Eventually, under pressure from Stryker and Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who leaned down from his bench to take part in the cross-examination, the gangster witness "guessed" that about $300,000 remained.

"Where is that $300,000?" Stryker snapped. "Your stole it didn't you?"

"I gave it to Schultz," Weinberg retorted.

"You stole it, didn't you?" the defense lawyer insisted.

"I did not. I gave it to Schultz."

Stryker, defending Hines against a charge of using his political prestige to protect the $20,000,000—year policy racket, opened Weinberg's second day of cross-examination with a direct attack on the confessed mobster and perjurer's credibility. It was Weinberg who asserted that Hines protected the gang against arrests and convictions for a weekly income of from $250 to $1,000 a week.

Hits "Fixing" of Game.

With an eye to emphasizing that the gang not only operated a gambling racket, but operated it dishonestly, Stryker seized on Weinberg's testimony of yesterday that the policy game was "fixed"

Japs Warn They'll Rule China's Skies

All Civil, Military Craft Liable to Attack if They Attempt to Escape, Japan Says After 15 Die In Raid on Airliner.

(By International News Service)

SHANGHAI—Japan today declared herself master of the air over China by warning that any passenger or military planes attempting to escape from Japanese aircraft would be liable to attack.

In a formal statement issued as a result of the Japanese attack on a CNAC air liner near Hong Kong yesterday, in which 14 or 15 persons were reported killed, a Nipponese military spokesman announced Japanese sovereignty over the Chinese skies, apparently by right of conquest.

Any machine flying over Chinese territory, whether flying on schedule or forced there by bad weather or any other cause, will be subject to inspection by the Japanese, the spokesman said.

They'll Use Force.

If any plane attempts to escape this scrutiny, he declared, it will risk being forced down as the CNAC air liner was on the Pearl river delta yesterday. In justification for this incident, the Japanese claim the pilot attempted to escape from pursuit craft and that it was not recognized as a transport plane because of insufficient markings.

The announcement made clear that not only CNAC planes, in which Pan-American Airways has a financial interest, but also craft of the British Imperial Airways and France also will be included in the ruling.

PLANE IN RIVER

HONG KONG—(U.P.)—The British gunboat Cicala radioed today that she had found a Chinese civil airplane, submerged in 40 feet of water, near the spot where Japanese airplanes forced it down yesterday and machine gunned the men, women and children aboard.

Bodies could be seen in the plane, the Cicala reported. It was added that the plane could have floated but a few minutes after its American pilot, Hugh L. Woods, brought it down in a river near the coast, 65 miles from Hong Kong.

Ex-Cleveland Theater Usher Was Bludgeoned to Death.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The body of Orlando Schiavoni, jr., 20, former theater usher, was found today in a vacant lot near Western Reserve university and presented to police homicide squad, already burdened with Cleveland's 12 "torso killings," a new slaying to investigate.

Detective Sergt. James Hogan said young Schiavoni apparently had been bludgeoned to death by a pervert.

Schiavoni had been missing from his home since Tuesday evening, after attending a birthday party in honor of a niece, the youth left his home and asked Mary Tucco, 18, a neighbor, to go to a theater with him.

The girl was unable to go with him, but walked to the corner of the street with him. His movements after that time are not known.

He was found on top of a pile of trash by a watchman. He had been shot once behind the right ear. Police said he undoubtedly had been killed on a "one-way ride," dumped from an automobile and dragged into the alley.

Police said Battaglia may have been involved in a dispute among west side ganblers.

Dr. Lavender, who was called to view the child's body by Dr. W. H. Buker of Bellville and Deputy Sheriff J. R. Hetler, said he would perform a post-mortem this afternoon to determine if the child's death could have been avoided.

"The child had been ill a month, and we have evidence that it received no medical treatment in that time," Dr. Lavender said.

Sponsors of Park Commission Plan Launch Final Drive.

The park and city beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce today launched a last minute drive to obtain an additional 300 signatures on a petition seeking to place the question of a park commission before the voters of Mansfield at the November election.

Paul W. Williams, secretary of the C. of C. said the committee needed 300 more signatures to reach the 1,200 necessary, so the petition can be filed before the deadline Sept. 8.

The petition is headed: "Shall there be a board of park commissioners for the city of Mansfield."

The plan calls for a non-partisan three-man board, selected by the mayor to serve without pay which would have complete control of the city's public parks system.

Business On Mend, Three U. S. Boards Point To Records

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Three federal agencies offered today statistical evidence of substantial business improvement in recent weeks.

The federal reserve board calculated that the upswing in steel, textiles, petroleum, shoe and other industries had won back in the last seven weeks all the ground lost in the previous seven months.

At the treasury, a 25 per cent spurt in customs collections indicated to officials that conditions had improved to the point where purchases of foreign raw materials and other merchandise were affected.

The commerce department reported the first favorable turn in its index of national income in nearly a year. July income declined less than the usual seasonal amount, and the nation's income from wages, dividends and other sources was estimated at $35,300,000,000 for the first seven months of the year.

Mansfielder's Plan to Clip Tops Off Mountain Peaks Gets Smile From WPA

Proponent Sincere, Says It Would Eliminate Air Travel Hazards.

A Mansfield man today had caused the WPA administrator at Washington to scratch its head and wonder if he were in earnest or kidding the federal bureau with his suggestion for a new safety measure for air travel.

C. F. Davison, 151 West Third street, however, said today that he had been sincere in his suggestion—and still thinks it's good if not practical.

The Mansfield man suggests that the tops be cut off of western mountains that are hazardous to air travel and the rock and earth be carried to the lowlands for the construction of a super-highway.

He suggested to WPA officials in Washington that anywhere from 500 to 1,000 feet be taken off the tops of the peaks of the Rockies and Sierra Nevadas. He thought the work might be paid for by making the transcontinental highway a toll highway.

An International News Service dispatch from Washington reported that acting administrator for WPA, Howard A. Gray, said the proposal would be formally filed and added, with twinkling eyes, that it would be considered if "Davison will put up 55 per cent of the cost of the plan."

Davison explained today that the idea for the super-highway was not his own, but that the cutting down the mountains was original with him. He said he hadn't thought out a plan whereby workmen could be transported to the tops of the inaccessible peaks. When asked if such a project wouldn't cost billions of dollars, he said he hadn't given the cost a lot of thought, but believed it could be done over a period of years, "maybe appropriating a billion each year until it could be completed."

NOMAD MEMBERS PLAN ANNIVERSARY YEAR

Organized 50 Years Ago: Club Arranges Historical Program Dealing With Developments In Past Half-Century.

APPROPRIATE is the only word for the program of study of the Nomad club which will be undertaken this fall when the organization starts its season with a luncheon meeting at the Westbrook Country club Sept. 28 with Mrs. William Weldon, president, serving as hostess. The organization, which will be celebrating its golden anniversary this year, has chosen the topic "Fifty Years In American Life."

Opening the season on a reminiscent note, charter members will give recollections of former times and earlier periods in the club's and the world's history. There will be a continuation of this theme of historical development over the past half-century with each subsequent meeting.

In October Mrs Charles S Williams will give a talk on the period before 1888, the year of the organization of the Nomad club. Later Mrs. D. O. Meese will take up 50 years' development in science and invention.

Progress in business and industry, education, foreign affairs, music, the theater, art, literature, and religion will also be discussed. Mrs. William Layton will be the March speaker and she will offer a lecture on "Looking Forward."

Plan Homecoming At Corps Session

Plans for the homecoming which will be held Sept. 14 at the G. A. R. hall were made yesterday when Mrs. Clarence Beelman entertained and presided over the meeting of the Women's Relief corps which was held at her home, 16 Atherton avenue.

Members adopted Mrs. Allie Nicely at the Madison home, and $29 worth of relief work was reported. Mrs. Beelman and Miss Mary Beilstein were elected delegates to attend the national convention at Des Moines, Iowa, early in September.

A picnic for members and families will be held Aug. 31 at North Lake park. Members are asked to bring a covered-dish and table service, the committee on arrangements requested.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, August 26.

AN EVENTFUL day, with probably sudden and quite unexpected change and commotion, is presaged from this day's luna, and mutual astral activites. There may be a precipitation of events of far-reaching importance, affecting the fortunes and the entire life objectives.

Those whose birthday it is need not be surprised at a very sudden visitation that may uproot them radically and have a strange and far-reaching influence on their lives and fortunes.

A child born on this day may have talents and ambitions quite out of the common lot, with high adventure and experiences taking it to distant places and strange or weird enterprises.

Milk Cooking

Milk scorches easily, so heat it in a double boiler or warm it over low heat in a pan set on an asbestos mat. To help keep the milk from sticking to the sides rinse the pan in cold water before heating.

Spinach is a valuable vegetable, but it does need some additional flavor to make it appeal to all the family. You can make it more palatable by adding a cheese cream sauce or minced onions and green peppers or still again by mixing in a bit of catsup or chili sauce.

Did you ever try toasting bread on your waffle iron? It can be done satisfactorily, and right at the serving table, if you choose.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

APPROXIMATE COUNTING

SOME OF the most expert card reading is not exact. Its findings are expressed in probables or approximations There are times when a declarer could not be absolutely sure of the distribution of adverse cards, but the true master is a better estimator of the most likely situation.

	♠ J 8 7 5 ♥ 10 ♦ J 9 6 2 ♣ A J 10 9
♠ 6 ♥ K Q J 8 7 5 ♦ A K 8 3 ♣ 8 5	N. W. E. S.	♠ Q 4 3 2 ♥ 6 4 3 2 ♦ 10 7 ♣ 6 4 3
	♠ A K 10 9 ♥ A 9 ♦ Q 5 4 ♣ K Q 7 2

(Dealer. South. East-West vulnerable)

Here South bid 1-Spade, West 2-Hearts, North 2-Spades, East passed, South 3-Clubs, West 3-Hearts, North 3-Spades and South 4-Spades.

West took in the diamonds A and K and, in response to East's signal, continued with the suit. East ruffed with the spade 2 and returned the heart 2, which South won with the A.

With three tricks lost, the success of the hand now simmered down to how the trump suit should be handled. With one trump already gone there were four outstanding, and ordinarily they should drop in two rounds However, declarer considered what sort of hand a conservative West held to bid twice unassisted when vulnerable. Then East's return of the heart 2 indicated no doubt a holding of four, which meant West held six. With four diamonds and six hearts, he probably was short in spades. Declarer therefore played his A. to make sure the Q was not singleton, went to dummy with a club and finessed the spade J.

Rice cakes, covered with a thick cheese sauce, are tempting for luncheon, supper or the meatless dinner menu.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

I HAVE always known that Lillian is an eloquent spokesman for any cause in which she is interested. Dicky frequently tells her that she should have been a lawyer, that she could sway any jury to her way of thinking with a 10-minute appeal. But never have I known her to have quicker success than she did with her explanation to Dicky's mother of Queen Olga's probable reasons for asking Katherine, Lillian and me to use her Christian name.

Mother Graham, naturally stubborn, can change front with as royal swiftness as her son when she is convinced that she should change her mind. And, by the time Lillian has finished, her face had lost every trace of obstinacy and was softened with pity for the royal fugitives, and—yielding of the position she had taken.

"I hope I am not too proud to change my mind when I am convinced I am wrong," she began, and my pulses gave a leap of triumph. "You have made things so clear, my dear Lillian, that I have no choice but to rescind the position I have taken, and agree with you I take back all I have said, and although the use of the queen's Christian name outrages my sense of the fitness of things, I shall make no further objection to it."

"Audience" Ends.

Her permission was as royally given as though she herself sat upon throne, and when she rose, this time we knew "for keeps," I had something of the feeling of having just heard an "audience" ended.

"If you will excuse me," she said, "I think I will go back to the nursery. I came down only to settle this question, and although Faith is sound asleep and cannot possibly get out of her crib, still I shall feel safer to go back to her until Mrs Bickett can resume her duties. What do you think? Ought I to sleep in the nursery tonight, or will Mrs Bickett be able to leave the queen to her daughter later on?"

I was ashamed of myself for the piqued feeling which swept over me. She had not proposed that I sleep in the nursery and guard my own baby. I knew, of course, that the whole family understood I had come home only for a couple of days, and did not expect me to attend to the task or duty which ordinarily would fall to me.

Omission Cuts Her.

But the omission cut me, nevertheless, although I flattered myself that nothing of my feeling appeared on my face Mother Graham suspected nothing, I was sure, as I hastened to answer her query.

"We can't tell about that until we can see Katherine," I said. "What do you think, Lillian?"

"Katherine, of course, holds the only answer," Lillian replied promptly. "But in my lay mind, the queen does not appear to be in a condition precarious enough to require the care of a trained nurse once she gets to sleep. I think you will find Katherine will leave her to Olina after a while, with instructions to have Olina call her if any necessity arises justifying the call."

"And of course I can be all ready to get up at any second during the night," my mother-in-law said eagerly, and Lillian nodded a grave assent.

Lillian Understands.

"Of course," she said, without the semblance of a smile, and then we escorted the older woman to the door and returned her courteous farewell. When she had turned the corner of the corridor, and not until then, we, by common consent, went back into the library and closed the door behind us. Lillian put her hand gently upon my shoulder, and I knew that my chagrin was no secret to her, although I had been able to conceal it from my mother-in-law.

"I know, Darling," she said "It's one of the penalites a 'career' woman pays Now don't say what you're thinking, although you probably wouldn't say it anyway, because it's profane, and a real lady doesn't use swear words. But you know I understand, don't you?"

For answer I put up my hand and gripped hers, and when she had given it a warm clasp, she asked abruptly.

"Look here, Madge, what's eating the Dicky-bird?"

Add Chocolate

Is your molasses too light to use in cake or cooky mixtures? Add one square of chocolate for each cup of molasses. The flavors blend nicely.

For a quick meal fill biscuit cases or hollowed toasted bread cubes with creamed tuna, salmon or chicken. Or you can serve the creamed mixture on waffles.

Canned artichoke hearts, marinated in French dressing and chilled an hour or more, are delicious when added to fresh vegetable or green salads.

THEATER

YOU Probably Don't Know That: In the next "Thin Man" story—the third—Myrna Loy and William Powell will have a baby, and the infant actor will be the expected baby of Bill's stand-in, Doc Dearborn. . . . R-K-O has signed Douglas Corrigan on the dotted line for a short subject on his Dublin flight for which Corrigan will get more than $75,000. . . . A trained seal steals comedy honors in "Spawn of the North." . . . When Madame Curie, discoverer of radium, died, her last words, according to her daughter's biography, were "I want to be alone." And Greta I-Vant-to-Be-Alone Garbo will play Curie on the screen. . . . When blond Joan Bennett dons a brunet wig, as she does in "Trade Winds," she looks like Heddy Lamarr. . . . Dave Hutton, a former husband of Aimee McPherson, is now teaching voice in Hollywood after an unsuccessful vaudeville try....

Goofy Adventures.

When a kidnaped bank teller aids his captors in "snatching" a beautiful girl in the belief he is doing the girl a favor, unbelievable complications ensue in "Go Chase Yourself," Joe Penner's latest goofy adventures. Joe is kidnaped in his own trailer—which he has just won in a raffle—after he has inadvertently revealed the secret combination of the bank vault and $50,000 has been stolen. And while Joe and the heiress (June Travis) are dragged over the country in the trailer, Joe's wife follows with the police. Lucille Ball, who has had a number of supporting roles in recent pictures, has her first major role as Penner's leading woman. The comedy will be shown at the Madison Friday and Saturday.

First Songs Best.

One of the interesting facts that is apparent in the presentation of "Alexander's Rag Time Band" is that few song hits today are as melodious as those of 15, 20 and 30 years ago. Berlin himself hasn't written a song in years that has had the popularity of his early songs. There are two of his current song hits in the picture—"Now It Can Be Told" and "My Walking Stick." The first, a ballad, will never be sung, whistled and played as was "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," which he wrote in 1919, nor his "What'll I Do?" in 1924. The current picture at the Ohio, with Alice Faye, Tyrone Power and Don Ameche, gets its name from Berlin's first big hit song.

Comedians Starred.

Tommy Riggs, the ventriloquist who introduced Betty Lou on the Rudy Valle program, makes his first screen appearance in "Goodbye Broadway," opening at the Ritz tomorrow for two days. Betty Lou, the very realistic little girl voice, is not, like Charlie McCarthy, a dummy, but only a voice. Stars of the picture are Alice Brady and Charles Winninger, who as the vaudeville team of "The Mallorys," spend their last penny on a hotel in a little Connecticut town. What happens to their hotel, their money and their friends makes an interesting comedy. Dorothea Kent, Tom Brown and Frank Jenks are in the picture. The second film is the Three Mesquiteers in "Rider of the Black Hills."

Mary Celeste Again.

No other vessel in all maritime history has been the inspiration of so many news stories, magazine articles, short stories, novels and pictures as the Mary Celeste, the mystery ship which was found sailing in mid-Atlantic in 1872, with no living soul aboard it, yet evidence of recent occupation. The ship is again the center of a picture, this time "Phantom Ship" with Bela Lugosi as the central figure. A story and a solution of the old mystery, which is purely suppositional, is worked out, and while it is interesting it will scarcely explain the wierd tragedy to those who have wondered about it for years. Lugosi is a half mad derelict on the ship. Shirley Grey heads the supporting cast. Tex Ritter in "Utah Trail" is the second feature at the Majestic tomorrow and Saturday.

My Neighbor Says:

Probably the best plant to grow under a large tree is the periwinkle, which thrives in shady situations and makes an attractive appearance throughout the year. If this plant is used, the space under the tree to be covered should be carefully forked over and enriched with well rotted stable manure, and if a dressing of fresh soil can be added it will greatly improve the bed.

When the upholstery of a chair or davenport is in good condition but out of harmony in color and design with other things in the room, a slip-cover may be used to produce more attractive combinations.

Reds Loom As Pirates' Chief Pennant Foes

FRIENDS FEAR TONY WILL TRY COMEBACK; AMBERS GETS OFFERS

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK —(AP)— Old Tony Canzoneri is working out daily in a gym here and friends are afraid he is going to try to come back. . . . Charlie Comiskey, 12-year-old son of the White Sox owner, is making the eastern swing with the Sox. . . . He puts on a uniform, sits on the bench and is having the very devil of a time. . . And he was in Jim Braddock's spot at 10:30 last night, Mom. . . . The Yanks say the reason you don't see more of Red Rolfe in the headlines is because Red is strictly a team man.

Tommy Farr isn't booked to fight anybody; he isn't even in training, but his fan mail averages 400 letters per week, most of them asking for photos. . . . The Cardinal front office (Breadon and Rickey) is said to have a mild feud on as to whether Frankie Frisch will get a new contract. . . . Breadon is pro and Rickey anti. . . Henry Armstrong is the world's welter weight champion, but can't fight over-the-weight bouts in that division because he can't build up to 148 pounds to save his life.

Lou Ambers' fine stand against Armstrong won him a flood of offers from all over the country and Lou will go barnstorming next month. . . . Any day now Mrs. Wills Moody may announce she has turned pro. . . . Mike Jacobs' next big heavyweight extravaganza will find Max Baer in there with Joe Louis. . . . In the meantime, Messrs, Farr and Barlund may be persuaded to do their stuff for garden addicts. . . . Joe McCarthy's Yanks are so far ahead of the rest of the American League you can't see 'em, but Joe is worrying lest something happen and they lose about 15 straight.

Barney Ross, now winding up a vacation in up-state New York, will settle down to business with his father-in-law here Sept. 15. . . Several American League clubs are outhitting the Yanks, but the McCarthymen have scored over 100 more runs than any other team in the loop and have batted in a hundred more. . . . "The answer to that is easy," says Joe DiMaggio . . . "We hit the long ones." . . . Max Schmeling really intends to come back here and have another try for the heavyweight title. . . .

* * *

AL BUCK, the middleweight (who was named after the boxing expert of the New York Evening Post) made six starts in 1937, losing six (four by kayos) . . . Buck, the sports writer, is threatening to enter Buck, the fighter, in a claiming race. . . . Put down those Cardinals for the prize nose dive of the season. . . . Jim Braddock is booked solid for refereeing dates in September.

Changes Loom In Golf Loop

As only three points separate the leaders from the basement position, a couple of changes are likely to result Friday in The News-Journal Women's golf league at Possum Run.

Strome's Grocers, who lead the second place Marks Markets by two points, meet the Bates Candies Friday, while the Markets tangle with the Liberty Shoes.

Friday's matches bring the schedule to a close, but several postponements have yet to be played.

MACK STARS AT PLATE AS ASSEMBLY WINS, 15-11

The Westinghouse Assembly club evened their five-game series with the Refrigeration Inspection by taking the second tilt, 15 to 11, at North park yesterday

Rachel started for the Assembly club, but with the bases loaded and only one out in the fourth, Mack replaced him, and halted the threat with two strike outs. Mack pitched winning ball the rest of the way. Burkhart and Parker of Inspection and Mack of Assembly hit for the circuit. Mack also clouted three doubles and a single in five trips to the plate. Burkhart got four for the Inspection.

CRONIN TRANSFERRED TO THREE-I LEAGUE

Chuck Cronin, former Mansfield pitcher, who won 12 games and lost eight for the last place Johnstown club of the Mid-Atlantic league has been transferred to Springfield, Ill., of the Three-I league. Cronin was sent to Springfield to bolster the mound staff in the tight pennant race in which the Illinois club is involved.

Indians Invade New York

But Series Holds Little Hope for Floundering Tribe, 12 Games Behind.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—A series that a month ago loomed as the most important of the 1938 baseball season and one which would decide the American league pennant today attracted only passing notice.

It was the engagement that brought the floundering Cleveland Indians here to play three consecutive double-headers with the league-leading New York Yankees.

Can Widen Margin.

With the recent collapse of the Indians the series is important only to the Yankees. Now 12 games in front the New Yorkers can widen the already impressive margin if they manhandle the Tribe.

That Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks intends to show Cleveland no mercy was vividly indicated by his pitching nominees for the twin bill today. He was to send Charley Ruffing and "Lefty" Gomez, his top two hurlers, against the Tribe. Johnny Allen and Earl Whitehill were to work for the Indians.

Cleveland managed to snare one game from the series with the Boston Red Sox and climb to within one percentage point of second place when it grabbed a 5 to 3 decision yesterday.

Mel Harder, the dependable curve ball artist, hung up his 12th victory of the campaign as he scattered 10 Boston safeties in impressive fashion.

Meanwhile his mates made good use of the 11 hits they pounded out off the delivery of Bill Harris, Archie McKain and Dick Midkiff.

Campbell Is Star.

The big gun of the Cleveland attack was Bruce Campbell. The speedy outfielder hit a home run in the first inning with no one on base and then came through with another circuit drive in the fifth with one on. The Indians other two runs came in the fourth.

In addition to his two home runs Campbell also pounded out a double. Jeff Heath and Hal Trosky were the only other Cleveland players to secure more than one hit.

Attempt to Emulate Cobb Weakens Redlegs.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Because Lee Grissom, gabby fellow who was begining to look like something this year, took a notion to steal a base, the Cincinnati Reds looked the future in the eye today, a half game out of second place, without a left-handed pitcher.

While Johnny Vander Meer continued to nurse the boil in his ear, Grissom, who streaked for second yesterday without a word of his intentions to Bill McKechnie, heard Trainer Doc Rhode announce, "out for two weeks at least and maybe longer." Grissom's ankle was sprained when his spikes caught in the bag and he was tagged out anyway.

Remy's Sunoco Aces will seek their ninth victory in 11 games at 6:30 p. m. today when they tackle the Ashland Harris Paints at North park.

Heistand Keeps Eye on Target

VANDALIA — (INS) — Joe Heistand's unbroken run of 966 targets stood out today as the greatest feat in the history of American trapshooting as the Grand American festival swung into its fourth day.

Heistand, shooting in the his last singles target race of the tournament smashed his 900th clay pigeon since arriving here last and left an unfinished world's record run of 966. The best done on the grounds previously was 487.

The Hillsboro, O., man far surpassed the unbroken mark of 714 held by Fred Tomlin, Glassboro, N. J., which was established Tuesday.

However, despite his great streak, Heistand failed to win the Class AA championship. The honor went to Phil Miller, French Lick, Ind., who came out ahead in a 100-target shootoff with Heistand.

Today's events were to include doubles, Class A, B, and C events and other minor shoots.

The Grand American handicap, greatest of all trapshooting tilts, is slated for tomorrow.

Moore Reaches News-Journal Men's Finals

Suffers Ankle Injury as He Beats Bob Spear.

Thornton Moore reached the finals in The News-Journal city championship tennis tournament men's singles yesterday when he eliminated Bob Spear, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, at the Woodland court.

But whether Moore will be handicapped in his future matches remains to be seen. The finalist suffered an ankle injury in the fourth set.

This is the second injury of this type suffered by a ranking player in the tournament this year. Lowell Bourns, defending singles champions, was forced to default because of his injury.

Today the two cripples will go into action in doubles play, and the outcome is questionable. Moore and his partner, Johny Foltz, face Bourns and Ellsworth Slabaugh in a doubles semi-final match at the Woodland court late this afternoon.

Another match on today's schedule at Woodland is a semi-final in the men's singles between Bob Enos, 1937 runer-up, and Bob Keefe, Mansfield high school star.

Moore and Spear battled over two hours in their semi-final match yesterday, and the outcome was in doubt until the last set.

Burke Breezes To Open Title

Cleveland Vet Wins Crown by 13 Points.

YOUNGTOWN—(AP)—The Ohio open golf championship was in possession today of Cleveland's Billy Burke, seasoned former national open champion who was runner-up in the past three Buckeye classics.

Burke breezed home by a wide margin at Youngstown Country club yesterday, scoring 285 for the 72-hole medal play tournament. The winner topped second-place Bob Servis, Dayton's sterling amateur, by 13 strokes.

Burke's total was a single stroke over par. He set the pace in the first 18-hole round and remained out in front. In his final round, Burke broke par 71 by one stroke, the only entrant among a field of 69 to chalk up a sub-par figure.

Reggie Myles of Columbia Center, who finished fourth with 302, trailed Burke by one point, 144 to 145, going into the semi-final round. Burke carded a 71 in the morning round while Myles slipped to an 80, and in the afternoon Burke collected his 70 while Myles took a 77.

Albert Alcroft of Youngstown was third with an even 299. Servis and Alcroft registered 78s in the semi-final tour but the Daytonian hit a par 71 in the matinee as Alcroft carded a 73.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HALT WESCO CLUB, 11-10

After trailing for five and a half innings, the Knights of Columbus staged a six-run rally which enabled them to defeat the Wesco club, 11 to 10, in a postponed Y. M. C. A. softball league game at Liberty park yesterday. Dillon, with three singles, and Geiger, with a triple and double, led the Knights. John hit a home run for the losers.

MINER'S LATE HOME RUN GIVES FREIGHTMEN TIE

Miner's home run in the first of the ninth enabled the All-State Freights to battle the Forest Gardens to a 3 to 3 tie in a game halted by darkness at the Gardens yesterday. John Bush gave up only four hits and struck out 15 of the Freights. Van Cura with a double and single led the Gardens' attack. Friday's one-handed catch of Van Cura's bid for a home run in deep right center in the last half of the ninth was the most spectacular witnessed at the Gardens this year. McKinley struck out 13.

Signs of—Football

Alvin (Bo) McMillin, elected by popular vote to be coach of the College All-Stars who play the Washington Redskins at Chicago, Wednesday, was photographed planning his strategy for the game.

Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh U. grid coach, returned from Scotland, predicted business would be good for his team.

Marshall Goldberg, valuable junior partner to Jock Sutherland, trained for a coming season of great activity.

Build New Shooting Range at Johnsville

Rifle and pistol target activities in the north central Ohio district are expected to be encouraged next year by the addition of a new range in this vicinity.

The Ohio Rifle & Pistol association has leased ground on route 42, a mile south of Johnsville, for a range, and work in preparing the field is already under way.

An expenditure of approximately $2,000 will be made immediately to make ready the range for next season, according to Dale Arnold, treasurer of the state association, and Lee Arntz, a director, who were instrumental in locating the range at the grounds known as the Pines.

Arnold and Arntz, who have been prominent in Mansfield gun circles for many years, are enthusiastic over the possibilities afforded by the new range, and said that plans are already being made to stage several important shoots there next year.

The range is now being built to accommodate 100 marksmen at a time, but it can be enlarged with additional shooting space with a small exepnditure, they said.

The plans call for the erection of a club house at the site later.

FORMER WESTINGHOUSE HURLER WITH FINDLAY

Don Scott, who once hurled for the Westinghouse baseball club, has been signed by Findlay of the Ohio State league. Scott, who has been playing ball around Toledo this summer after his release by Fostoria, hurled for Portsmouth and Fostoria last season.

Giants, Cubs Falter To Throw Race Open

Cardinals Too Far Back to Figure Seriously, but Can Finish Up In the Money.

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

THE FEARSOME prospect of having to tangle with those awful Yankees in another world series appears to have the National league's leading citizens scared to death of winning their own pennant.

At least, that's the way the current senior circuit race (if you can call it that) looks, what with the Pirates having a tough time scratching an even .500 average in their last 20 games, the Giants winning just 13 of the last 27, and those Chicago Cubs playing seventh-place ball for the past month.

Kick Chances Away.

In fact, the way the favorites have been doing their darndest to kick their chances away, only Frankie Frisch's collapsible Cardinals and Will McKechnie's raw Reds appear to have serious designs on the flag.

As matters have been progressing, however, the Pirates won't have much chance to sidestep during the closing drive. They defeated the Boston Bees, 6-2, yesterday, largely through Young's triple with the bases loaded. It boosted their first-place margin to six full games.

Of course, the Cardinals can pretty well be counted out now. 18 full games behind the pacesetters. But with Lonnie Warneke's lanky arm mowing the other fellows down, and Curt (Bargain Counter) Davis starting to click—as witness that one-hit 5-0 decision he posted against the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday — Onkel Frankie still may get his boys into the money.

The Reds are generally regarded as too young to stand the gaff of the stretch drive, but the fact that no other first division club has as good a record in the past month makes it barely possible they may come through. They chalked up their 17th win in 30 starts yesterday with a 3-1 victory over the Phillies.

Since Vance Page, the "old man" rookie, tossed a four-hitter to give the Cubs a 6-1 win over the Giants, this left the Reds just half-a-game out of second place.

The Yanks split with the Chicago White Sox yesterday to climb 12 full games in front in the American league. Jimmy Dykes' three-run homer paced the Sox to an 8-5 opener win, and Tommy Henrich's two homers gave the Yanks the afterpiece 11-1.

A's Pull Up.

Washington regained sole possession of fourth place 8-6 over the St. Louis Browns, and the Athletics pulled themselves out of the cellar with a double win over Detroit, 10-5 and 11-1.

FOUR POSTPONED GAMES ON SCHEDULE FRIDAY

Three postponed games will be played in the Y. M. C. A. Club softball league and one in the Commercial circuit Friday. The Club league tilts will send the Catholic Foresters against Local No. 40 at North park, Schoolmasters against J. A. C. at Liberty park and K. of C. against Zent's Radios at Prospect park. The Tappan Stoves and Sweet Oils meet at Empire field in the Commercial league tilt.

Oct. 8 to Be Big Day At Bucks' Stadium

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

JUDGING from the number of 'phone calls requesting information on the Ohio State schedule, Mansfield will be heavily represented in Columbus on the day Southern California plays there. Incidentally, the Trojans' appearance is slated for Oct. 8. . . . Tommy Tucker of Ontario baseball fame has just returned from a tryout with the Columbus Red Birds. . . . The Liberty park pool is perfect for diving purposes, but not for races. The ends are too shallow to permit starts and finishes.

Canton McKinley's 1938 football prospects took on a brighter hue this week when a number of players whose eligibilty was in doubt were ruled O. K. . . . Moose lodge bowlers are getting ready to throw a league into operation as soon as Mike Meder opens up his lanes. . . . Add to the growing list of golfers who are taking their game more seriously this year: Charles (Plumber) Hoffman.

Clare Bell won the three-way play-off for the medal honors in the Coolridge tournament with a 75. . . . And "Shorty" Bowles has his iron game down to a point where it is dangerous. . . . Early Sunday golfers at Possum Run had a hard time convincing "Irish" McGee that he raised the flag at No. 1 tee upside down, and he walked out of the clubhouse and found they were right until only after much persausion. . . .

Neil Maxwell has been offered a partnership in a brick yard since that story about his brick-filled golf bag got out. . . . Between daily shots on the golf course, Pat Barnes is doing some thinking about the "muskies" up in Canada, where he will spend his vacation next month. . . . Carl Maul is getting things pretty well lined up for the old-timers' baseball picnic at Spiker's grove next Sunday, but he has been so busy he doesn't know in which direction he's going. . . .

JOHN FOLTZ is having his troubles. His golf game is suffering because he has been trying to mix it with tennis, and his racquet wielding has lacked its usual sting because . . . well, because he's been playing too much golf. . . . Orville Kibler has his route charted and bags packed, and off to the east will he go for a brief vacation trip as soon as playground activities come to a close. . . . Although the Ohio Seniors' golf tournament has been held at Westbrook every year but one since it was organized, W. J. Spreng is the only Mansfield man to ever win the championship.

'Dark Horses' Rule Publinks

Favorite, Medalist Lose in Cleveland Tourney.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The "dark horses" today were in command of the national public links golf tournament.

Already out of the running were the medalist and the 1934 and 1937 winners. Fourteen of the 16 survivors are unknowns as far as this championship is concerned. The two whose names already are on the record books are Andy Szwedko, a husky Pittsburgh steel worker who was defeated in last year's semi-finals by Bruce McCormick, of Los Angeles, and Lloyd Nordstrom of Davenport, Ia., the 1935 medalist.

Today two more 18-hole rounds will trim the field to four. The 36-hole semi-finals will be played tomorrow and the final on Saturday.

Nordstrom eliminated defending Champion McCormick, one up, in one of yesterday's 48 matches.

Among the survivors were two 16-year-old youngsters — Charley Lind of Denver and Bart Taro, a Seattle, Wash., newsboy.

'Little All-American' Runs Eagles to Victory.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Little All-American Dick Riffle promises to be a big All-American in the National professional football league this year.

The elusive lad from Corning, N. Y., who "burned up" eastern Pennsylvania's gridirons while a halfback at Albright college the last three years, made his pro debut in impressive style last night as he sparked the Philadelphia Eagles to a 14 to 7 victory over the eastern college all-stars at Temple stadium. "Dashing Dick" personally accounted for the winning touchdown with an 80-yard run in the third period.

PATTY BERG ADVANCES, EVA SHORB ELIMINATED

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Patty Berg of Minneapolis, lone remaining favorite in the 38th annual closed tournament of the Women's Western Golf association, led the field into the quarterfinals today in a third round match with Eleanor Dudley, Chicago veteran. Edith Estabrooks, former western junior champion from Dubuque, Ia., whipped Eva Shorb, Massillon, O., 6 and 5.

NEW YORK—Pedro Montanez, 138¾, Puerto Rico, stopped Orville Drouillard, 137, Windsor, Ont. (5).

FREAK SHOTS PLEASE GALLERY, SAYS MONTAGUE

HOLLYWOOD —(U.P.)—"Mysterious" John Montague, so-called Paul Bunyan of golf, came home today from a four-month exhibition tour which convinced him that freak shots please a gallery more than good golf does. Montague's barnstorming tour was terminated temporarily when his partner, George Von Elm, became ill. It will be resumed when he recovers.

OILS AT BELLVILLE

Sweet's Oils softball team will play at Bellville at 6 p. m. today, and players are requested to report at the station at 5:30.

LINSTER, TIFFANY MEET IN FINALS NEXT SUNDAY

SHELBY — Nick Linster of Mansfield will meet Jack Tiffany of Shelby in the finals of the President's Cup Golf tournament at the Shelby Country club at 9:30 a. m. Sunday. A 36-hole match will be played during the day with the afternoon rounds scheduled for 1:30 p. m., Harry Tiffany, club committeeman, said today.

Snead Averages $50 a Day In Golf

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Sammy Snead, hard-hitting West Virginian, is averaging better than $50 a day playing golf this season, Professional Golfers association figures showed today.

Snead, who has been playing the big-time circuit only a little more than a year, already has made $11,912.83 to put him far ahead of his contemporaries.

Since the first of the year Snead has averaged $353.36 weekly in prize money.

Second on the list is Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., with $7,093.33, while Harry Cooper of Chicopee, Mass., who led in 1937 with $14,138.69, is third with $6,500.00.

OFFICIALS NAMED FOR SOLDIER FIELD CLASSIC

CHICAGO—(INS)—The cast for next Wednesday night's charity football game between the college All-Stars and the champion Washington Redskins at Soldier field was complete today.

Tommy Hughitt, veteran football mentor from Buffalo, N. Y., was named referee for the annual game. Fred Gardner of Cornell drew the distinction of acting as head linesman. E. C. Krieger of Ohio university will umpire the game while Larry Cooover of Penn State will act as field judge.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the returns and assessments of real property of Richland County, Ohio for the tax year 1938 have been equalized and revised by the Richland County Board of Revision. The values are completed and are open for public inspection in the Real Estate Department of the County Auditor's office, Mansfield, Ohio.

Complaint against any values or assessments of real property, except values and assessments made by the Tax Commission of Ohio, will be heard by the Richland County Board of Revision at the Court House in Mansfield, Ohio at its next regular meeting.

Complaints must be made in writing by the owner of the property on blanks furnished by the County Auditor and filed at the Auditor's office on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year.

Many property owners are of the opinion that real estate is appraised at a certain per cent of its true value. This is erroneous as the Constitution and Law of Ohio provides that real estate be appraised at 100% of its true value. In making the present equalization of values the Board of Revision has attempted to carry out this law on a reasonable basis.

The willingness of a complainant to sell property at the assessed value does not necessarily constitute a reason for reduction nor does the purchase price of a property at a forced sale necessarily fix the tax value. The law requires consideration of all factors and the Board must consider rental, sales, reproduction costs, asking price, book values, insurance values, amount of mortgages, etc.

Since the last actual reappraisal in 1925 a blanket reduction of approximately 40% has been allowed on all real estate values in the County. Since that date a great many changes in the value of real estate have occurred. It is the object of this appraisal to recognize these changes and to assess each property on as fair basis as possible.

The Auditor, upon request, will furnish to any person the assessment of any tract, lot or parcel of real estate upon receipt of postage and last tax bill.

NORMAN L. WOLFE, AUDITOR
RICHLAND COUNTY.

Auto List Tapers Off After Climb at Opening; Oils Suffer Losses.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—(INS)—The stock market displayed a tendency to drift in the forenoon dealings today. Trading was quiet.

Prices moved irregularly lower in the early dealings, after which the list moved upward under leadership of the motor shares. This met scattered selling and the market turned irregular again.

The auto list was active at the start, General Motors opening on 2,000 shares. On their rise Chrysler was up nearly a point and General Motors fractionally. They tapered off later.

The steel shares were off fractionally for a while and then substituted equally small gains. They turned irregular toward midday.

Most of the oil shares suffered small losses. The utility list firmed up after a mixed start. Most of the rails were quiet though Union Pacific rose nearly a point. Dupont rose a point in the chemicals and Union Carbide lost nearly as much. Some of the coppers were inclined to sag Owens glass fell nearly 2 points. Elsewhere the trend was irregular.

LIST SLOWS UP AFTER STOCKS EXTEND GAINS

Demand for Issues Carries General Motors, Chrysler to New 1938 Peaks.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market encountered more resistance today as it approached the July peaks of the mid-year upswing, but gains were extended fractions to around 2 points throughout the list before the push slowed down.

Demand for automotive issues carried General Motors and Chrysler to new peaks for the year, the former reaching 50 on the way up.

A number of stocks in the rubber, glass, motor parts and aircraft equipment groups also attained new 1938 tops, among them Goodyear Tire, U. S. Rubber, Bendix, Borg Warner, Sperry, Electric Auto Lite and Libbey-Owens-Glass.

In the bond market, Baltimore & Ohio issues rallied on announcement of the road's plan for reducing interest charges in agreement with institutional holders of its obligations. Most corporate loans followed stocks higher. Leading commodities held to a restricted course.

Drawing much comment in Wall street was the contrast between actions of the security markets and business now and a year ago. In the latter half of August, 1937, stocks and commodities were on the skids and a slump in business, too, became apparent after Labor Day.

With trends reversed, many were confident the unusual summer industrial expansion would carry beyond August and lift steel, building supply, motor and other recently depressed industries to more profitable levels.

Rated a big factor in trade prospects were federal plans for stepping up government contributions to mass purchasing power.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the returns and assessments of real property of Richland County, Ohio for the tax year 1938 have been equalized and revised by the Richland County Board of Revision. The values are completed and are open for public inspection in the Real Estate Department of the County Auditor's office, Mansfield, Ohio.

Complaint against any values or assessments of real property, except values and assessments made by the Tax Commission of Ohio, will be heard by the Richland County Board of Revision at the Court House in Mansfield, Ohio at its next regular meeting.

Complaints must be made in writing by the owner of the property on blanks furnished by the County Auditor and filed at the Auditor's office on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year.

Many property owners are of the opinion that real estate is appraised at a certain per cent of its true value. This is erroneous as the Constitution and Law of Ohio provides that real estate be appraised at 100% of its true value In making the present equalization of values the Board of Revision has attempted to carry out this law on a reasonable basis.

The willingness of a complainant to sell property at the assessed value does not necessarily constitute a reason for reduction nor does the purchase price of a property at a forced sale necessarily fix the tax value. The law requires consideration of all factors and the Board must consider rental, sales, reproduction costs, asking price, book values, insurance values, amount of mortgages, etc

Since the last actual reappraisal in 1925 a blanket reduction of approximately 40% has been allowed on all real estate values in the County Since that date a great many changes in the value of real estate have occurred It is the object of this appraisal to recognize these changes and to assess each property on as fair basis as possible.

The Auditor, upon request, will furnish to any person the assessment of any tract, lot or parcel of real estate upon receipt of postage and last tax bill.

1,600 'FIRED'

State Highway Workmen Lose Jobs in 'Economy Wave.'

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—John Jaster, jr., state highway department director, announced today that 1,600 unemployed Athens and Hocking county miners who have been employed two days weekly for the past several months would be dismissed "sometime before Sept. 1."

The move was the first of a series of reductions which Jaster said were planned in the personnel of the highway department. He said the activities of all branches of the department would be curtailed in an effort to balance the year's budget.

The economy moves were made necessary, Jaster said, by a slump in gasoline tax receipts. He said the receipts were down six per cent in June this year, and estimated that the yearly total would be $1,000,000 less than in 1937.

TEST CONVICT 'ROASTERS' IN PRISON BLOCK

Probers of Steam Deaths of 4 Prisoners, to Stay in Punishment Cells.

THEY'LL 'TURN ON HEAT'

Investigators to Subject Selves to Same Torture Inmates Suffered.

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA—Pennsylvania prison investigators said today they would "turn on the heat" and enter the stuffy cells where four hunger-striking convicts suffocated, to learn whether the punishment cell block was "a deliberately planned roaster."

Charles L. Engard, secretary of welfare directing the state's investigation of the deaths in the Philadelphia county prison Monday, disclosed that men from his office and two state policemen would make the test.

Described as 'Horrible.'

He said they would subject themselves to the same conditions the prisoners faced in the heated cells termed as horrible as the Black Hole of Calcutta.

William B. Mills, superintendent of the prison, said if the building was deliberately planned as a "roaster," he was unaware of it.

Coroner Charles A. Hersch announced he would ask Gov. George H. Earle for state troopers to take over the prison during the investigation.

With two guards already being held as material witnesses in connection with the case, the district attorney was in sole charge of the investigation. He took control of the case after Coroner Hersch charged that the arrest of the two guards yesterday by city police was premature. It was the first time a case had been taken from the police and given to a district attorney in 20 years.

Bail Set at $2,500.

The guards, Alfred W. Brough, 29, and Francis Smith, 43, were held in $2,500 bail each for further hearings next Tuesday.

Hersch said the arrests, ordered by Mayor S. Davis Wilson, were made without his knowledge. He declared the action temporarily halted triple investigations by himself, the district attorney and the state, inasmuch as the two guards had volunteered information and that now they "don't have to talk unless they want to because they are defendants."

Warden William B. Mills, who has claimed that "not a violent hand was laid on the prisoners," said "someone as yet unknown closed the windows in the cell blocks and turned on the steam radiators." The radiators are in a corridor outside the cells, he said, and could not be reached by any prisoners.

Probing Prison 'Steam Deaths'

Here are two of the principal figures in the investigation of the deaths of four inmates of Philadelphia county prison. At top, Coroner Charles Hersch, who charges that the men were scalded to death in an airtight cell block, under orders from a prison official, is questioning Mrs. Helen Osborn, widow of one of the four dead convicts. At bottom is Warden William B. Mills, who has flatly denied that any steam or hot water were used on the men.

HARMONY IN AIR AS G. O. P. NAMES HARDY

Probate Deputy Picked County Executive Chairman by Acclamation.

NO HINT OF DISPUTE GIVEN

Committee Pledges Support for Entire Ticket in Fall Election.

Ralph M. Hardy, a county probate court deputy, today took over the leadership of the Republican party in Richland county, succeeding Glenn L. Bierly.

Hardy, an ally of former Mayor Earl A. McFarland, and central committee chairman for the past two years, was elected chairman of the county executive committee last night by acclamation at the group's organization session at party headquarters in the Mohican building.

Model Session.

The session was a model of harmony with not a hint of dispute over the election of officers. Members of the committee pledged 100 per cent support of the complete Republican ticket in the county, district and state.

McFarland, who defeated R. B. Gardner for the state central committee post from the 17th district at the primary Aug. 9, nominated Hardy for the executive chairmanship.

Atty. Stuart H. Cramer was re-elected secretary of the committee, and T. R. Barnes, a veteran of many county G. O. P. wars, was chosen treasurer. He succeeds G. Fred Altaffer, treasurer for the past several years, who was removed from the committee in the "purge" at last Saturday's meeting. James E. Warrack was elected vice chairman.

Retiring Chairman Absent.

Bierly, who was elected executive chairman last January after Carlton S. Fernyak resigned, withdrew several days ago and did not attend last night's meeting. Cramer was temporary chairman until Hardy was elected.

Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, executive committee member, sounded the keynote of the county Republicans in the November campaign, calling for a complete mobilization of the party's forces behind the county, district and state candidates.

"Only a change of parties at Columbus can bring a clean-up of the state administration," Judge Anderson said, "and the way to help John W. Bricker to be governor is to work for him in county precincts and eliminate any bitterness in the party ranks.

Hardy appointed Atty. J. V. Will, Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch and Arliss F. Porter as a resolutions committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws to present at a meeting of the committee next Tuesday night.

At that time, the committee will plan for enlarged headquarters and elect two additional members of the executive committee to bring the total to 31, Hardy said.

On Stand Again

Although he admitted he had been a perjurer, a gangster and a crook, George Weinberg, above, who testified that the Dutch Schultz lottery gang had paid James J. Hines, Tammany leader, for political protection, withstood more than two hours of cross-examination by Hines' attorneys yesterday. He was due to return to the witness stand again today, for resumption of cross-examination.

LAWYER SAYS EX-MOBSTER STOLE PROFITS

Charge Meets Denial From Weinberg Terming Hines as 'Fixer' He Paid.

STORY UNDER ATTACK

Defense Seeks to Discredit Witness as Perjurer at Policy Game Trial.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Lloyd Paul Stryker, defense counsel for James J. Hines, today accused George Weinberg, prosecution witness, of stealing $300,000 from the Dutch Schultz policy racket in 1933-1934.

Stryker, shouting his charge, elicited a stout denial from the gangster who had "put the finger" on Hines as political fixer for the gang.

Weinberg had testified that, in a period of 156 days, the policy racket had profited to a net of $780,000, once the mob began fixing the numbers at race tracks in New Orleans and Cincinnati.

Got $275,000 More.

From this profit, he said, Schultz took $275,000 in addition to his "regular take" but was vague about the remaining amount of approximately $500,000. Eventually, under pressure from Stryker and Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who leaned down from his bench to take part in the cross-examination, the gangster witness "guessed" that about $300,000 remained.

"Where is that $300,000?" Stryker snapped. "You stole it didn't you?"

"I gave it to Schultz," Weinberg retorted.

"You stole it, didn't you?" the defense lawyer insisted.

"I did not. I gave it to Schultz."

Stryker, defending Hines against a charge of using his political prestige to protect the $20,000,000—year policy racket, opened Weinberg's second day of cross-examination with a direct attack on the confessed mobster and perjurer's credibility. It was Weinberg who asserted that Hines protected the gang against arrests and convictions for a weekly income of from $250 to $1,000 a week.

Hits "Fixing" of Game.

With an eye to emphasizing that the gang not only operated a gambling racket, but operated it dishonestly, Stryker seized on Weinberg's testimony of yesterday that the policy game was "fixed"

Japs Warn They'll Rule China's Skies

All Civil, Military Craft Liable to Attack if They Attempt to Escape, Japan Says After 15 Die In Raid on Airliner.

(By International News Service)

SHANGHAI—Japan today declared herself master of the air over China by warning that any passenger or military planes attempting to escape from Japanese aircraft would be liable to attack.

In a formal statement issued as a result of the Japanese attack on a CNAC air liner near Hong Kong yesterday, in which 14 or 15 persons were reported killed, a Nipponese military spokesman announced Japanese sovereignty over the Chinese skies, apparently by right of conquest.

Any machine flying over Chinese territory, whether flying on schedule or forced there by bad weather or any other cause, will be subject to inspection by the Japanese, the spokesman said.

They'll Use Force.

If any plane attempts to escape this scrutiny, he declared, it will risk being forced down as the CNAC air liner was on the Pearl river delta yesterday. In justification for this incident, the Japanese claim the pilot attempted to escape from pursuit craft and that it was not recognized as a transport plane because of insufficient markings.

The announcement made clear that not only CNAC planes, in which Pan-American Airways has a financial interest, but also craft of the British Imperial Airways and France also will be included in the ruling.

PLANE IN RIVER

HONG KONG—(UP)—The British gunboat Cicala radioed today that she had found a Chinese civil airplane, submerged in 40 feet of water, near the spot where Japanese airplanes forced it down yesterday and machine gunned the men, women and children aboard.

Bodies could be seen in the plane, the Cicala reported. It was added that the plane could have floated but a few minutes after its American pilot, Hugh L. Woods, brought it down in a river near the coast, 65 miles from Hong Kong.

Detective Sergt. James Hogan said young Schiavoni apparently had been bludgeoned to death by a pervert.

Schiavoni had been missing from his home since Tuesday evening, after attending a birthday party in honor of a niece, the youth left his home and asked Mary Ricco, 18, a neighbor, to go to a theater with him.

The girl was unable to go with him, but walked to the corner of the street with him. His movements after that time are not known.

Sponsors of Park Commission Plan Launch Final Drive.

The park and city beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce today launched a last minute drive to obtain an additional 300 signatures on a petition seeking to place the question of a park commission before the voters of Mansfield at the November election.

Paul W. Williams, secretary of the C. of C. said the committee needed 300 more signatures to reach the 1,200 necessary, so the petition can be filed before the deadline Sept. 8

The petition is headed: "Shall there be a board of park commissioners for the city of Mansfield."

Business On Mend, Three U. S. Boards Point To Records

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Three federal agencies offered today statistical evidence of substantial business improvement in recent weeks.

The federal reserve board calculated that the upswing in steel, textiles, petroleum, shoe and other industries had won back in the last seven weeks all the ground lost in the previous seven months.

At the treasury, a 25 per cent spurt in customs collections indicated to officials that conditions had improved to the point where purchases of foreign raw materials and other merchandise were affected.

The commerce department reported the first favorable turn in its index of national income in nearly a year. July income declined less than the usual seasonal amount, and the nation's income from wages, dividends and other sources was estimated at $35,300,000,000 for the first seven months of the year.

Mansfielder's Plan to Clip Tops Off Mountain Peaks Gets Smile From WPA

Proponent Sincere, Says It Would Eliminate Air Travel Hazards.

A Mansfield man today had caused the WPA administrator at Washington to scratch its head and wonder if he were in earnest or kidding the federal bureau with his suggestion for a new safety measure for air travel.

C. F. Davison, 151 West Third street, however, said today that he had been sincere in his suggestion—and still thinks it's good if not practical.

The Mansfield man suggests that the tops be cut off of western mountains that are hazardous to air travel and the rock and earth be carried to the lowlands for the construction of a super-highway.

He suggested to WPA officials in Washington that anywhere from 500 to 1,000 feet be taken off the tops of the peaks of the Rockies and Sierra Nevadas. He thought the work might be paid for by making the transcontinental highway a toll highway.

An International News Service dispatch from Washington reported that acting administrator for WPA, Howard A. Gray, said the proposal would be formally filed and added, with twinkling eyes, that it would be considered if "Davison will put up 55 per cent of the cost of the plan."

Davison explained today that the idea for the super-highway was not his own, but that the cutting down the mountains was original with him. He said he hadn't thought out a plan whereby workmen could be transported to the tops of the inaccessible peaks. When asked if such a project wouldn't cost billions of dollars, he said he hadn't given the cost a lot of thought, but believed it could be done over a period of years, "maybe appropriating a billion each year until it could be completed."

DEADLINE NEAR FOR U. S. WHEAT CROP INSURANCE

70 Richland Farmers Signed to Date; Aug. 31 Last Day for Applications.

With the deadline for filing applications for federal wheat crop insurance just a week away, 70 Richland county farmers had submitted their requests today for participation in the insurance plan.

Applications in the county are being handled by H. C. Stone, county crop insurance supervisor, who has headquarters at the agriculture conservation office at 55½ East Third street.

Represent 1,500 Acres.

Stone said the 70 applications represent about 1,500 acres of wheat, and predicted that a much greater wheat acreage would be signed up for insurance before the deadline, Aug. 31. Ohio is leading all other states in the number of insurance applications filed so far.

The federal insurance plan offers wheat farmers protection against loss of crop yields up to 50 or 75 per cent of their 10-year average yield.

Premium rates, based on the degree of risk in wheat growing over a 10-year period, are 1.2 bushels per acre in Richland county for 75 per cent coverage, and .4 of a bushel for 50 per cent coverage.

The insured farmer may pay premiums in wheat or the equivalent in cash.

HAWKS' ASHES TAKEN TO HOME

Flier's Wish Carried Out by Aviator Companion.

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (INS) — The ashes of Lieut. Com. Frank Hawks, whose body was cremated in accordance with a wish expressed when he predicted he would die in a plane crash, were to be carried to his Connecticut home today by his flying companion, Mack R. Garlin.

Funeral services for Hawks, who gave up his daring exploits as a speed pilot to concentrate on the "safety" of flying, will be conducted at his Redding, Conn., home Friday afternoon. Hawks, holder at one time of more than 200 air records, and J. Hazard Campbell, wealthy Buffalo sportsman, were killed when a biplane crashed after hitting a high tension line at East Aurora Tuesday night.

PATROL UNITS TO SERVE AGAIN AT 14 CITY AND RURAL SCHOOLS

Schoolboy patrol units will be on duty at 14 city and rural schools when they open next month for the 1938-39 school year, Patrolman Frend Boals, patrol supervisor, announced today.

Boals said patrol units will operate at 11 city and three rural schools. Units will be maintained at all city schools with the exception of Senior high, and at the East Mansfield, Woodville, and Lincoln Heights schools in Madison township.

Serving as patrolmen at the city schools will be 135 boys, while the three rural units will have 11 boys. Patrolmen at some of the schools were named at the close of classes last spring. At schools where patrolmen have not been appointed, the principal will name boys to serve until the unit has been selected. Patrols are expected to be fully organized and equipped by the second week of the new school year, Boals said.

New equipment to outfit the patrols was being ordered today by the Richland County Automobile club, sponsor of the patrol. The equipment includes one gross of patrolmen badges, one dozen of captain badges, and three dozen of lieutenant badges. In addition to purchasing new badges, belts worn by the boys are being cleaned and reconditioned.

ber of the state central committee from this district. Named at the suggestion of Mrs. Zella Bittinger, Ashland member of the central committee, was Mrs. Snow of Mt. Vernon.

Kallmerten explained that it was Knox and Coshocton counties' turn to have executive committee members, since the membership is rotated, giving each county a chance to have representatives in the group.

The state central committee, on Sawyer's recommendation, re-elected Earl H. Hanefeld, of Ottawa, chairman for the sixth consecutive time. Hanefeld is state director of agriculture.

Enlarging of the executive committee by allowing each district committeeman and woman to name a member-at-large, permitted a few supporters of Gov. Martin L. Davey to remain in the party machine. Among them were Mrs. Myrna Smith, the governor's private secretary, and John F. Nolan, Steubenville, a leading Davey worker.

Although yesterday's meeting was harmonious on the surface, political observers pointed out that Sawyer refused to be photographed shaking hands with Francis Poulson, retiring executive chairman and campaign manager for Davey in the campaign two years ago. Poulson had pledged his support to Sawyer following the Cincinnatian's primary victory.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

COLLECTION ENDS

Fourth of Garbage Bills Still Unpaid as Period Closes.

With approximately 25 per cent of the 4,000 garbage collection bills still outstanding, the garbage department was scheduled to close the third quarter collection today with $6,000 of the $8,000 paid, Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage departments, announced.

There is no penalty for non-payment but the customer's name is placed on the delinquent list and service is discontinued if the bill is unpaid after Sept. 1, Lingafelter said.

FLIES FOR STEAK

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Walker P. Inman, wealthy sportsman pilot of Georgetown, S. C., wanted a supply of fresh Florida steaks.

Judging of 4-H Club Handiwork Gets Under Way

Their season's club activities nearing completion, members of boys' and girls' 4-H clubs in Richland county today displayed their handiwork for judging by County Agent George B. Ganyard and Mrs. Evelyn Brunskull of Medina.

Girls' projects, including articles of clothing and dishes prepared by club members, were exhibited at school buildings and Grange halls throughout the county where Mrs. Brunskull graded them.

Ganyard viewed livestock and garden projects at the homes of the members of the boys' clubs. The work was expected to continue the rest of the week. There are 43 active boys' and girls' clubs in the county.

In addition to awards made at the county fair last month, members whose projects were incomplete then will receive award certificates through the county agent's office.

Mrs. Brunskull, a leader in 4-H activities in Medina county, is assisting with the judging here at the request of Ganyard.

GALION — Mrs. James Groves was dismissed from the Good Samaritan hospital, Wednesday, and taken to her home in Iberia. Lawrence Maidens had a tonsil operation at the hospital Wednesday morning.

$250,000 PRIZE LIST SET UP FOR MOVIE CONTEST

Industry Offers 5,000 Cash Awards for Winners of Quiz Bee Event.

Does a contest in which the top prize is $50,000 cash appeal to you? Or the fact that there are 4,999 lesser cash prizes?

The motion picture industry wasn't kidding when it recently announced a slogan of "Movies Are Your Best Entertainment" and the determination to prove it, for the industry will spend an even quarter of a million dollars in cash prizes and many more thousands in advertising the contest during the next two months.

Motion picture producers, exhibitors and theater owners are sponsoring the contest which is being announced in every city, town and village where there is a theater or a newspaper. Mansfield's four theaters—the Ohio, Madison, Majestic and Ritz are among the sponsors.

Must Answer 30 Questions.

The contest is expected to bring in millions of answers and the sponsors promise that every one will be judged on its merits. The contest itself is a simple quiz bee which can be answered only by persons who have seen the shows mentioned. Contestants will be obliged to see any selected 30 shows out of 80 that will be mentioned.

A contestant must answer 30 questions, and for every question there will be three possible answers, only one of which will be entirely correct. The correct answer will involve close attention to the pictures involved.

The contest opens Sept. 1 and shortly before that date every theater taking part in the contest will have Movie Quiz booklets which may be had for the asking, and these booklets will carry the list of 80 pictures and the 30 questions.

The contetst is open to everyone except motion picture employes. First prize will be $50,000 and the remaining $200,000 will be divided into 4,999 other cash prizes.

Detailed information about the contest, which will be limited to American audiences, may be had directly from the theaters.

SHIRLEY, RUBY TO BE AT FAIR

They're Not Movie Actresses But a Pair of Prized Horses.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Shirley Temple and Ruby Keeler will appear at the 88th annual Ohio State fair, Aug. 27-Sept. 2, Agriculture Director Earl Hanefeld announced today.

But wait—the Shirley and Ruby Hanefeld had in mind are not the famous movie actresses but a pair of Belgian horses entered by Jerry Emerick, New Madison, Darke county.

Stagehand also is among the entrants, but he is a spotted Poland China hog and not the Kentucky derby horse

JAIL FUGITIVE

Toledo Police Hold O. S. R. Inmate Who Fled June 29.

An inmate of the Mansfield reformatory who fled the farm dormitory June 29 was held in jail in Toledo today following his capture in what police said was a stolen automobile.

Associated Press dispatches said the fugitive, identified through police records, was Thomas Faris, 20, of Toledo. Faris was captured by a city patrolman who said a gun and blackjack were found in the car.

Records at the reformatory showed Faris was received from Lucas county on Mar. 18, 1937, to serve from one to 15 years on a burglary charge. He walked away from the farm dormitory.

DEADLINE NEAR FOR U. S. WHEAT CROP INSURANCE

70 Richland Farmers Signed to Date; Aug. 31 Last Day for Applications.

With the deadline for filing applications for federal wheat crop insurance just a week away, 70 Richland county farmers had submitted their requests today for participation in the insurance plan.

Applications in the county are being handled by H. C. Stone, county crop insurance supervisor, who has headquarters at the agriculture conservation office at 55½ East Third street.

Represent 1,500 Acres.

Stone said the 70 applications represent about 1,500 acres of wheat, and predicted that a much greater wheat acreage would be signed up for insurance before the deadline, Aug. 31. Ohio is leading all other states in the number of insurance applications filed so far.

The federal insurance plan offers wheat farmers protection against loss of crop yields up to 50 or 75 per cent of their 10-year average yield.

Premium rates, based on the degree of risk in wheat growing over a 10-year period, are 1.2 bushels per acre in Richland county for 75 per cent coverage, and .4 of a bushel for 50 per cent coverage.

The insured farmer may pay premiums in wheat or the equivalent in cash.

HAWKS' ASHES TAKEN TO HOME

Flier's Wish Carried Out by Aviator Companion.

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (INS) — The ashes of Lieut. Com. Frank Hawks, whose body was cremated in accordance with a wish expressed when he predicted he would die in a plane crash, were to be carried to his Connecticut home today by his flying companion, Mack R. Carlin.

Funeral services for Hawks, who gave up his daring exploits as a speed pilot to concentrate on the "safety" of flying, will be conducted at his Redding, Conn., home Friday afternoon. Hawks, holder at one time of more than 200 air records, and J. Hazard Campbell, wealthy Buffalo sportsman, were killed when a biplane crashed after hitting a high tension line at East Aurora Tuesday night.

PATROL UNITS TO SERVE AGAIN AT 14 CITY AND RURAL SCHOOLS

Schoolboy patrol units will be on duty at 14 city and rural schools when they open next month for the 1938-39 school year, Patrolman Frend Boals, patrol supervisor, announced today.

Boals said patrol units will operate at 11 city and three rural schools. Units will be maintained at all city schools with the exception of Senior high, and at the East Mansfield, Woodville, and Lincoln Heights schools in Madison township.

Serving as patrolmen at the city schools will be 135 boys, while the three rural units will have 11 boys. Patrolmen at some of the schools were named at the close of classes last spring. At schools where patrolmen have not been appointed, the principal will name boys to serve until the unit has been selected. Patrols are expected to be fully organized and equipped by the second week of the new school year, Boals said.

New equipment to outfit the patrols was being ordered today by the Richland County Automobile club, sponsor of the patrol. The equipment includes one gross of patrolmen badges, one dozen of captain badges and three dozen of lieutenant badges. In addition to purchasing new badges, belts worn by the boys are being cleaned and reconditioned.

Limbach Named Head of State Democratic Committee; 2 From District Named.

ber of the state central committee from this district. Named at the suggestion of Mrs. Zella Bittinger, Ashland member of the central committee, was Mrs. Snow of Mt. Vernon.

Kallmerten explained that it was Knox and Coshocton counties' turn to have executive committee members, since the membership is rotated, giving each county a chance to have representatives in the group.

The state central committee, on Sawyer's recommendation, reelected Earl H. Hanefeld, of Ottawa, chairman for the sixth consecutive time. Hanefeld is state director of agriculture.

Enlarging of the executive committee by allowing each district committeeman and woman to name a member-at-large, permitted a few supporters of Gov. Martin L. Davey to remain in the party machine. Among them were Mrs. Myrna Smith, the governor's private secretary, and John F. Nolan, Steubenville, a leading Davey worker.

Although yesterday's meeting was harmonious on the surface, political observers pointed out that Sawyer refused to be photographed shaking hands with Francis Poulson, retiring executive chairman and campaign manager for Davey in the campaign two years ago. Poulson had pledged his support to Sawyer following the Cincinnatian's primary victory.

WORLD CURIOUS ABOUT HAY DRIER

Louisiana U. Experts Get Requests For Blue Prints.

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Louisiana State University experts who developed a mechanical hay drier are getting requests for blue prints of it from all over the world.

The main part of the drier is a drum six feet in diameter by 40 feet long which rotates at the rate of 12 revolutions a minute. Low cost fuel oil produces heat which is sucked through the cylinder carrying the hay with it.

The apparatus will dry approximately a ton and a quarter of hay an hour.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Fourth of Garbage Bills Still Unpaid as Period Closes.

With approximately 25 per cent of the 4,000 garbage collection bills still outstanding, the garbage department was scheduled to close the third quarter collection today with $6,000 of the $8,000 paid, Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage departments, announced.

There is no penalty for non-payment but the customer's name is placed on the delinquent list and service is discontinued if the bill is unpaid after Sept. 1, Lingafelter said.

Judging of 4-H Club Handiwork Gets Under Way

Their season's club activities nearing completion, members of boys' and girls' 4-H clubs in Richland county today displayed their handiwork for judging by County Agent George B. Ganyard and Mrs. Evelyn Brunskull of Medina.

Girls' projects, including articles of clothing and dishes prepared by club members, were exhibited at school buildings and Grange halls throughout the county where Mrs. Brunskull graded them.

Ganyard viewed livestock and garden projects at the homes of the members of the boys' clubs. The work was expected to continue the rest of the week. There are 43 active boys' and girls' clubs in the county.

In addition to awards made at the county fair last month, members whose projects were incomplete then will receive award certificates through the county agent's office.

Mrs. Brunskull, a leader in 4-H activities in Medina county, is assisting with the judging here at the request of Ganyard.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 25, 1938.

If the country finally goes to them, it may at least be hoped that tail-wagging dogs will be in the majority.

Civilization is an organized but ineffectual effort of people and nations to pay their debts. Barbarians don't have any debts.

Seems odd, with his popularity, that no one has thought to mention Corrigan as a prospect for 1940—but possibly he lacks radio appeal.

Senator Byrd's Six-Point Program.

TIMELY warning was given recently, by the state tax commissioner of New York, that it would be most unfortunate "if, as a result of our social programs, there is a breakdown in the feelings of personal and family responsibility."

It would be dangerous, said he, "for a large segment of our population to believe that they need exercise no individual initiative or make any great effort to take care of themselves and their families."

Writing in the September Commentator, Senator Harry Byrd, of Virginia, declares that federal dependents have grown to more than 40,000,000, and that with two-thirds of the nation taking care of the other third there is grave danger of the administration's playing politics with those on relief, using money appropriated for those who are suffering and need relief, a thing already openly charged by others.

Senator Byrd presents a six-point program which he would help put through congress next year, which he believes would not only take care of the relief problem but would accomplish several other benefits. His six points are:

Provide economy and efficiency; deter the upward trend of taxes; apply the brakes to the mounting federal debt; expedite and simplify dealing with governmental agencies; strengthen the accounting and auditing of governmental fiscal affairs, and preserve the three branches of the government.

In presenting this program Senator Byrd evidences the soundness and good sense that marked the Democratic platform pronouncements in 1932, although his views are not in accord with the wasteful and paternalistic policies developed under the New Deal.

When the times comes for a start on the hard way back from the present spending spree there will be need for such sane and sensible leadership as is evidenced in Senator Byrd's program.

Friendly Manila.

THAT celebration in Manila of the fortieth anniversary of the American occupation of the Philippines deserves attention. It seems that the natives had far more to do with it than did the American officials and civilians. Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner representing the United States, says it was one of the most impressive celebrations of any kind he has seen anywhere.

"Its sincerity," he reports, "was so marked that the response on the part of Americans here and at home will be in full measure. It is not often that we see expressions of gratitude in this world, and when they come sincerely they are heart-warming." President Quezon himself praised the American Philippine policy.

Those are the Filipinos who lately were clamoring for immediate independence. They seem to have seen a light, and realize better than they used to how much they need American protection and trade. The Japanese attack on China seems responsible for this changed attitude.

Encouraging Traffic Facts.

FIGURES presented at the opening sessions of the National Institute for Traffic Safety Training at Ann Arbor, Mich., are distinctly encouraging. Take the statement of O. D. Fennell, president of the safety council:

> "We are saving many lives. In the first half of 1938 there have been 3,670 fewer deaths in traffic accidents than in the same period of 1937, a reduction of 22 per cent."

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Automotive Safety Foundation of the Studebaker corporation, pointed out that the good record to date in 1938 cannot be credited to less driving, for gasoline consumption is well ahead of that for 1937.

> "The important thing," he said, "is the rate per 100,000,000 vehicle-miles. If the rate in 1936 had been 12, as it has been for the first half of this year, it would have meant the saving of 12,000 lives, the elimination of 300,000 injuries, the saving of $400,000 in hard cash."

Dr. McClintock, director of the Yale Bureau for Street Traffic Research, gave society a mild excuse for having been temporarily at the mercy of the motor car.

> "Our horizons have been changed from six to ten miles an hour and thirty miles a day to fifty or sixty miles an hour and 500 to 600 miles a day," he said. "It is the most enormous transportation system in the world, with 3,000,000 miles of rights of way—the roads—30,000,000 pieces of rolling stock—the cars—and 80,000,000 riders daily."

No wonder we blundered at first. But there are to be fewer accidents and more safe passenger-miles of travel from now on if newspapers and public continue their present support of the work of these traffic experts and promoters of safety.

Lightning Repeats.

THE old saying is not true. Lightning does sometimes strike twice in the same place. It is demonstrated by the fate of John A. Maxwell of Somerville, N. J., who was killed by a bolt on a golf course, on the spot where he had been knocked down during a thunder storm 25 years ago.

This demonstration, however, wasn't really needed. There are plenty of records showing that lightning has struck not only twice, but many times, in the same place. In fact, it might be logically assumed that a place once struck—a knoll or tall tree or exposed building—is more dangerous than other places during electrical storms, from the very fact that lightning has chosen it once. Such an electric discharge, in any given situation, naturally takes the easiest way, and what is the easiest way one time may be so again.

Those who have been waiting for a two-hour screen version of "Gone With the Wind" may yet be forced to read the book.

One of the newer signs, seen out in Missouri: "Candidates—Don't kiss the baby."

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — For many months the Netherlands East Indies, the vast Dutch territory south of China and centering on Java, has been persistently buying military airplanes and other war supplies from the United States.

Each month the totals have been recorded by the state department which administers the arms export licensing act, along with the totals of other foreign sales. They show that this internationally obscure region has bought more war planes than perhaps any other country except those actually at war, China and Japan.

Anyone with a smattering of geographical and military knowledge could have surmised an explanation. The islands, rich agriculturally and tremendously wealthy in oil, are nearer Japan than some parts of China. They lie in a scattered huddle southward from China across the equator.

The total population is 60,000,000 of which 45,000,000 are sardined on the island of Java, leaving the vast remainder not thickly populated—just a huge undeveloped tropical empire.

Not until recently has there come to us a first hand opportunity to learn what residents of this rich tropical commonwealth think of their situation, but the opportunity has come and the result is communicated here.

Looks to Britain.

BEGINNING early in the thirties there was a feeling of alarm among the Netherlands Indies at the aggressive attitude of Japan in the Far East. This vast territory is subject to tiny European Holland, although it is a hundred times as large and its population several times as great. But obviously it could not look to Holland for protection against a major first line power in the Pacific.

Instead, it has looked for years to Great Britain for protection, just as has Holland in Europe. English trade, in return, has exacted favorable treatment in these Indies as a sort of quid pro quo for the protection. It was not official but expected. It riled the Dutch. Further the British attitude of "hands off" displayed when Japan first began sweeping in on China in 1931 and later, gave impetus to the Dutch Indies' desire to provide more of their own defense.

They began buying a few bombing planes. Obviously this was the best protection for a territory sprawled in big and little islands over an oceanic zone far larger than the United States.

The buying took on some impetus in 1934 and 1935 and then there arose, in May of 1936, a strange crisis. Early that month there came a report to Dutch East Indies' officials that a Japanese fleet of considerable size had left under sealed orders and was bound for a surprise invasion of this rich territory to seize a desperately-needed source of oil.

Instantly, a war-like censorship was imposed upon the whole zone and such land forces as the Dutch could muster were mobilized virtually to war status. That lasted for 30 days. No Japanese fleet ever reached the Indies and the basis of the report has not been learned by our informants.

Making It Tough.

SCARCELY a word of the exciting crisis leaked out then,—little since. But since that event these Far Eastern possessions of the Netherlands have been buying extensively of the best bombers this country could supply.

Our information is that approximately 60 bombers have been purchased and delivered from the United States, while about 40 bombers, including some of sea plane type, have been bought in Germany and Holland. Travelers have seen them being carried eastward, some loaded cumbersomely on the decks of general cargo vessels.

Of course, any wise Dutchman in the Indies would agree that even now it is mainly dependent for protection upon British forces at Singapore—which reaches right into the core of the Dutch possessions. But the idea of the planes and reorganized land forces is to make it so costly to invade the islands that any foe will be discouraged from trying.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Starboard" and "Larboard".

"Starboard" for the right side of a vessel and "larboard" for the left are survivals of a day when ships were very different from those that ride the waves now.

"Starboard" comes from "steer" which was the old Anglo-Saxon "seor", and meant the steering side of a vessel.

The old galleys which were moved by oars had attached to their right side a steering oar by which the course of the vessel was manipulated.

To distinguish it from the "starboard," the left side of the vessel which was considered the less important side was called the "lowerboard."

In time, this was slurred into the "larboard" with which we are familiar today.

Doubts Arise Over Gold Purchases

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — What would happen if the governments throughout the world that have no gold, or very little, should suddenly decide that they were no longer interested? Especially if the present rapid movement of all gold in the world toward the treasury of the United States government should continue until the United States was practically the only government in the world that had any?

There is a simple answer to this, but it doesn't mean anything. The answer is that gold would thereupon possess only its commodity value. Which is to say that gold would be just what the demand for it would justify, for ornaments, dental work, and various other usese where its extraordinary ability to withstand the various ravages of time makes it valuable.

The answer does not mean anything because nobody has even the foggiest idea of what that value would be. At present there is just one big buyer of gold. That is the United States government, which is willing to pay anybody, anywhere in the world, $35 an ounce for it. Except of course to American citizens who have been holding out on the government by hoarding gold acquired at its old value of slightly more than $20 an ounce.

BUT even for commercial uses gold is not now in the proud position it occupied a very few years back. Platinum is superior to gold in some of these uses. It will resist certain destructive acids more successfully than gold. Its price has been declining. No one is sure what the platinum producers could do to the price if it became in their interest to market it in quantities instead of holding the price up. If one could know what the platinum production possibilities are, one could estimate much more accurately what the price of gold would be IF it should some day be entirely separated from its monetary value.

Actually a good many people in this country, prevented by law from hoarding gold, but very much afraid of inflation and anxious to hedge against it, have been hoarding platinum. There is even the hope of profit, for IF that world war we have been worried about for several years should break out, it is thought that the price of platinum would advance. Especially if the war involved Russia.

Lack of knowledge about the possibilities of platinum production, however, makes hoarding quite a gamble.

RUSSIA, incidentally, is also terribly important on this question of the real value of gold—whether the U. S. treasury is not gambling and in danger of coming a cropper in making such a huge investment in the yellow metal. The Soviet government is in a better position to conceal her activities than any other country in the world. She proved that back in the Hoover administration when, first in a year of a huge wheat crop, and second, in a year of near famine, she played the market in this country on grain futures at a profit running into hundreds of millions of dollars.

At present, no one knows what the possibilities of gold production are in Russia. Actually she is almost equal to South Africa, as far as public figures are concerned. But there is at least the suspicion, in the minds of most of the world's metal traders, that Russia is not being frank about her gold production. Suspicion is that she is producing more than she admits, and that she is capable of stepping up that production enormously.

But Uncle Sam is the only buyer. Occasionally the British buy a little, but on the whole the world's gold supply has been drifting toward this country's stocks. Gold is pouring in from Europe and Japan, to finance war purchases. As long as it will buy goods in America, certainly there will be no gestures to discourage Washington from regarding it as the most important thing in the world.

Health Advice

Causes of Nervous Diseases.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE MAY well ask "What are the factors in life which are conducive to the development of functional or nervous diseases?"

Generally speaking, diseases are either hereditary or acquired. We inherit blue eyes, brown hair, body type and weight, bald heads, big noses, and all the other physical characteristics which make people interesting. Our traits or character, however, and the stability of our nervous systems are largely a matter of cantact and experience with others.

Granting this to be true, how fortunate is the child born and reared by sensible parents possessing good control of their nervous systems, and how unfortunate is the child of neurotic, hysterical or highly emotional parents.

Many children emulate their parents because knowledge is largely acquired in the early impressionable years by mimicking others. Such children are figuratively battered about between excess love and unreasonable anger; between fear and bravado; between over-solicitous attention and neglect.

Even such natural functions as eating, sleeping and elimination receive an unnatural and unwarranted attention, and the child is tremendously impressed with the importance of a lost meal, a coated tongue, a scratch on the hand, a failure to respond to a call of nature when the clock strikes nine.

Develop Nerves When Adults.

Then there are other people, who, even though their adolescent years were passed under favorable circumstances, develop nervous or emotional tendencies in adult life. Many factors enter into this but they will usually fall into certain broad classifications economic, domestic, thwarted ambition, organic disease.

The present economic disaster has brought to physicians thousands of men and women who previously had always been considered physically able and emotionally sound. The symptoms vary tremendously — headache, dizziness, backache, indigestin, loss of appetite and weight, weakness, anemia, insomnia, mental depression, are the common ones.

Incompatible domestic relations probably still heads the list, particularly with women. Books could be written about this subject and still not cover all the causes that are advanced as reasons why men and women fail to live together in peace and harmony. Back of it all is a fundamental reason—ignorance of the laws of physiology. Add to this selfishness, bad temper, jealousy, idleness, illness, perversions and other similar human frailties, and the picture is practically complete.

More Carillons Here.

There are a lot of things the United States has the most of, but we have just learned that it tops the world in the possession of carillons. There has just been completed at Luray, Va., a great memorial singing tower, which is one of the finest in the world.

The thing all started in the Netherlands, where towers were erected for alarm and time signals, and gradually came into use as musical instruments. Here in America their sole use is for music, and they peal out so loudly as to be heard great distances.

These carillons are costly, too, and are not likely soon to become as common as church peals or chimes, and the erection of one of them marks a community as standing out in the musical world. —Ohio State Journal.

Listen, World!

The High Cost of Excusing.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU get so mad! Looking back over your life you get so mad and discouraged. Just one darned mess after another. One flop after another. What's the use? You never have the breaks—

But maybe there's a reason why you never have the breaks. Maybe there's a reason why your life is just one mess after another. Stop a minute. Wipe your tears, pull up your jaw—and use the good old bean.

There was that mistake you made this morning. Not much of a mistake; you've almost forgotten it. Don't forget it. Sit down and think about it. That mistake was important. It holds the secret of all your misfortunes. You don't believe that? Listen—

You made that mistake. Just a silly little mistake. But what did you do about it? You did what you have always done whenever you made a mistake, big or little—YOU LOOKED AROUND FOR AN EXCUSE. Quick as a flash, without a moment's hesitation, you looked around for an excuse.

AND that, of course, was natural. It was the old animal instinct of self-preservation asserting itself. Mistakes mean trouble. Trouble means danger, discomfort, humiliation, possibly punishment. An animal's first impulse is to hide itself from danger. You, too, are an animal. Your first impulse, also, is to duck.

So you ducked. As soon as you made that mistake, you grabbed the nearest excuse and ducked. That was easy. One can always find a thousand handy alibis. Blame someone else. Say you were sick. Say you didn't know.

You made an excuse. Probably it was a good excuse. It satisfied others. It prevented trouble—shushed the nagging. And you felt fine! You stopped feeling shaky inside, prickly outside. Your courage was returned; your wounded vanity was soothed. Everything was jake again. Or was it?

No, it wasn't. For you really haven't wiped out that mistake at all—and you know you haven't. You'll go on making mistakes, just like that, again and again. Life will continue to be "one darned mess after another" until—

UNTIL YOU STOP DUCKING—STOP MAKING EXCUSES, AND FORCE YOURSELF TO FACE THE REAL REASON FOR ALL THESE MESSES.

But what is the real reason?

The real reason is YOURSELF.

The real reason is SOMETHING IN YOUR OWN NATURE.

Many other things may come into the picture. Other people may come in. Sickness may come in. Disorders may come in.

BUT BEHIND THE OTHER PEOPLE, BEHIND THE SICKNESS AND DISORDER, LIES SOME WEAKNESS IN YOUR OWN NATURE THAT IS TRICKING AND TRAPPING YOU AGAIN AND AGAIN.

Some weakness—laziness, cowardice, conceit, greediness, silliness; which is it? I don't know. Nobody can know except yourself. And you'll never know until you stop running away and turn and face yourself.

Even then you must be ruthlessly honest, ruthlessly brave. If you wish to help yourself. You mustn't allow yourself to make even one smallest excuse for yourself, to lay even a particle of the blame on the other fellow. Making excuses, passing the blame, these things will give you temporary comfort. But—if you do it, you're lost. Life will go on being "one mess after another." You will go on whining, whimpering, crawling.

Know the truth about yourself. Then the weakness in yourself, which is responsible for all your misery, will no longer spoil your life.

You can be free. You can be strong. You can be happy. You need only to face yourself.

BUT HAVE YOU WHAT IT TAKES?

Work That You Love.

There's nothing quite so good as play,
Except the work that you
Love best of all; what pleasure comes
When zestful you pursue

The tasks best loved. They do not seem
Like work at all, the joy
You take in them is like that of
A child with some gay toy.

Work that you love, that you achieve
Successfully, is there
In all this world a thing that brings
A happiness more fair?

A Farmer's Diary

Goldenrod.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE goldenrod is yellow. I saw the golden heads wave and nod in the low wind. These gentle autumn flowers along the old fence rows and by the roadsides, prepare throughout the year for this season of their glory, but seldom are noticed by the casual eye, until they bloom.

In spring, when I dug postholes, I came upon tough rhizomes of this plant, so numerous that when pulled up, large portions of top soil clung to the fleshy roots. At this early season I have seen their sharp, white, tender stems shove up through the matted sod. How well one loves to greet those early signs of growth, when leaves and last year's grass lie all about, ravaged by ruthless winter!

When June arrives, the plant has grown a foot or more, and stands a hardy green, with long tapering leaves. All through July and early August it bears its soft, verdant branches upward and erect.

But when the nights grow long and cooler, and the first south winds of autumn blow, the goldenrod brings forth its show of myriad golden flowers, to brighten the faded green of roadside and meadow.

The goldfinch and the field sparrow light upon its limber top. The stalk bends half way to the ground with its burden. Domestic bees, painted butterflies, and heavy droning bumblebees seek nectar from the blossoms.

All through the mellow autumn days it nods its lovely head, with every breeze. Even light September frosts, or killing freezing, clear October nights do not cause its flowering to droop. The goldenrod lives all the season through, bears its hardy seed, and dies a natural death.

Man About Manhattan

Looks Over New Orleans

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW ORLEANS—I like to read inscriptions on statues and gravestones. Sometimes they are funny. Often they are sad. Frequently they say nothing beyond the fact that here lie the remains of someone who was born and now is dead.

This is a good town for inscription readers because there are so many statues here. All of them commemorate heroic deeds. There never was a time when New Orleans wasn't a rendezvous for heroes, anyway. And there are many, many cemeteries. But they are unlike most cemeteries. Here they are "cities of the dead" for most of the burials are by vault, and instead of graves you see row after row of little whitewashed houses. Like miniature cities they glisten in the sun. Burial above ground is important here because the land is so near sea-level.

AS YOU stroll through these communities of the dead you frequently come upon the names of men who fell in duels: "Mort sur le champ d'honneur"—Died on the field of honor. Another reads "Pour garder intact le nom de famille"—To keep unsullied the name of the family.....And again, "Victime de son honneur"—Victim of his honor.

In Girod cemetery there is an inscription that lovers and romanticists sing, because it was written by the lover of a famous actree, Jane Placide. His name was James Caldwell, and when his sweetheart died he chose this lyric lament for her grave:

"There's not an hour
Of day or dreaming night but I am with thee
There's not a breeze but whispers of thy name.
And not a flower that sleeps beneath the moon
But in its hues or fragrance tells a tale of thee."

Perhaps the most arresting burial place in the city is the Chinese Mausoleum. It is a plain square structure with vaults opening on a covered courtyard, but all the slabs are identified with Arabic numerals and oriental symbols. Incense is burned here for the benefit of those who have joined their ancestors. This place is but a temporary resting place, for all Chinese are returned to China for burial. About every ten years the vaults are opened and the remains packed in steel boxes and returned to China.

THE famous Voodoo leader, Marie Laveau, is believed to be buried in St. Louis cemetery, No. 1 (there are three) in a grave on which the inscription attests that she was a good mother and a good friend to all who knew her. The inscription ends with the plea: "Passers-by, please pray for her."

Everywhere are statues and monuments to Confederate dead, and in Metairie cemetery, on the site of the famous ante-bellum race track, you will find the statue of Stonewall Jackson, "neither calmer nor grander than Jackson stood in flesh."

The statue of Jefferson Davis, the lonely man from Mississippi whose "deeds are wedded to immortality," is a striking memorial in a city which remembers him none too kindly. For New Orleans is Beauregard's town, and they will tell you here that if Davis had listened to Beauregard the war might have had a different ending. That, of course, is a matter of opinion. But it is an imposing statue.

REGISTRATIONS SPURT AS BOND ELECTION NEARS

Board Officials Expect 20,000 Will Be Eligible to Cast Ballots Sept. 20.

Registrations at the county board of elections continued to soar toward a new high today, with board officials attributing the rapid increase to growing interest in the special school bond election Sept. 20.

Registrations were well past the 19,000 mark, and indications were that 20,000 voters will be eligible to cast their ballots at the special election and in November.

The registration period for the special election closes Sept. 15, and will re-open the day after the election, board members explained. Mansfielders may register or transfer to vote in the November election until Oct. 10.

Offices In Courthouse.

Registrations and change of address are received at the board of elections office in the basement of the courthouse. Office hours are from 8 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and 12:30 to 4 p. m. from Monday through Friday and from 8 a. m. to noon on Saturdays.

Persons who will be 21 years old before the November election are eligible to register now, board officials said.

Other citizens who have not voted at the last two general elections, who recently acquired citizenship, or recently moved into the county must register before the dead line in order to vote.

PLAYGROUNDS CLOSE FRIDAY

Children From 12 Lots to Wind Up Season With Outings at North, Liberty Parks.

Mansfield playgrounds will close tomorrow for the summer season, with play day programs and picnics scheduled to be held at Liberty and North Lake parks.

Children from the 12 playgrounds will be devided into two divisions, one group going to each park. Children from the Temple Court, Brinkerhoff, Carpenter, Prospect park, South park and North Lake park grounds will take part in the program at that park, while those from Liberty park, Johns park, Garden Acres, Bushnell, Madison and Hedges will take part in the Liberty program.

The day's program will get underway at each park at 10 a. m. A swimming meet will be held at that hour, a picnic dinner will be served at noon, and at 1 p. m. the children will participate in various games.

The North Lake park program will be in charge of John Chatlain, and Miss Lois Baughman, and supervisors from the six grounds meeting at Liberty park, will have charge of activities there.

Thursday a hike and tour of the Reformatory was held by children from three of the grounds. The tour of the Reformatory was made by over 100 children of Carpenter and Temple court grounds, and 11 girls of the Brinkerhoff grounds took a hike near the city.

Mayor Puts Ban On Loudspeakers At Park Services

Mayor Claude M Hunter today acted to "muffle" Saturday evening church services at Central park.

The mayor directed a communication to each of the pastors of the three churches conducting the worship periods, forbidding the use of a public address system during the services.

The letters were sent to Mrs. Iva L. Wallick, pastor of the Four Square Gospel church; Rev. H. S. Yohn, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, and Rev. J. A. Wilkerson, pastor of the Glad Tidings tabernacle.

Mayor Hunter said he had no objection to services being held at the park but that he had ordered the ban on loudspeakers because a delegation of businessmen and residents in the vicinity had asked for some relief from the noise, which he said they termed a nuisance.

Hunter said the pastors had been warned several weeks ago to "tone down" the loud speakers when residents first complained.

"Apparently the warning was disregarded and I am forced to ask each of them to refrain from any future use of the loud speaker equipment," the mayor said.

CLAIMS WITNESS GOT $300,000

Hines' Attorney Rips Into Testimony of Ex-Mobster Who Accuses Client.

at tracks in New Orleans and Cincinnati.

He laid the groundwork with Weinberg's admission that Schultz and fellow racketeers organized the numbers racket, forcing so-called "bankers" to join with him and pay him tribute.

"He placed you and others in various banks," Stryker asked, "to see that he would not be gyped in the amount he was extorting for protection?"

"That's right," Weinberg replied.

"You testified that during a certain period from 1933 to 1934 you and others were fixing numbers to cheat and defraud the poor people who were playing the numbers?"

"That's right."

So Stryker began his task of establishing that the testimony against his client was from the lips of a gangster who already had confessed perjury in previous trials, and who now blandly admitted that he was crooked in the operation of a gambling game that stood to be enormously profitable even if it were run honestly.

Fails To Change Story.

Blandly admitting that he had been a "gangster," "burglar," "perjurer" and "crook," Weinberg withstood more than two hours of cross-examination yesterday without changing one point in his story that he had taken two days to tell for the state.

Defense Attorney Lloyd P. Styker tripped him once—he said he had delivered the mob's "payoff" to Hines' apartment on Central Park West several times in the spring of 1932 and Styker showed rent receipts and a lease to prove that Hines did not move there until October that year—but Weinberg still refused to concede that he had been wrong.

Without consideration for his shady past, Weinberg's story would be devastating to Hines, the hall's strongest district leader, who is on trial charged with having conspired with the murderous racketeers who ruled the city's lotteries under Schultz's leadership from 1932 to 1935.

Stryker tried, in cross-examining Weinberg, to discredit the other star witnesses in advance. He made Weinberg admit that Schoenhaus "is a crook, too;" that Davis is "a disbarred lawyer and a crooked man in this gambling thing up to his neck." Weinberg replied "yes" both times. He admitted that he had committed perjury the only two times he had ever appeared in court prior to this one; that he had begun his criminal career as a burglar and ended it as a "confessed gangster." But he still insisted that he wouldn't tell a lie about Hines "or any othe man, just to hurt them."

A poker-faced gangster who admitted with a shrug that his conscience was rarely acute, Weinberg remained the least ruffled man in the courtroom yesterday when Hines, his face reddening with rage, rose to his feet, snatched off his horn-rimmed spectacles, glared at Weinberg and bit off one grim sentence, "you know you lie!"

Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker shouted to Hines, "don't do that" and another attorney held him in his chair as he attempted to continue.

Not a flicker of emotion crossed Weinberg's countenance.

11,000 Pupils in County to Return to Classes in Next Two Weeks.

more one-room "little red schoolhouses" closed as the county's district consolidation program moves ahead, Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, said.

Four of the schools to be closed are in the Bellville district, two in the Union district and one in Madison township.

Pupils in the Pleasant Hall, Sycamore Valley, Pleasant Hill and South schools will be transported to Bellville where an addition to the school is being completed to accommodate them.

In the Union district, the Wolford school will be consolidated with the Pavonia school, and pupils in the Charles school will be transported to Olivesburg, Robinson said.

Pupils in the Yankeetown school in Madison township east of Mansfield will attend classes at the Lincoln Heights school.

Robinson predicted that enrollment in the rural districts would be "slightly higher" than last year, when 4,700 pupils attended school in the county outside Mansfield and Shelby.

The gain, he said, probably will result from the trend of population from the cities to the country in times of business depression.

Mansfield school officials said enrollment would be "about the same" as last year.

Springfield township schools at Ontario will open Sept. 6, and Supt. L. C. Stingel announced he will be at the school office daily, except Sunday, until the opening day to handle registrations and sale of work books.

5,000 Gather at Crestline Park To Hear Bricker

CRESTLINE — "Good government by the people, not by force," was advocated last night by John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor, in a talk before approximately 5,000 persons at Hamilton park last night.

Bricker was the principal speaker at the annual community party sponsored by the Crestline Community Improvement association. Charles Sawyer, the Democratic candidate for governor, had been invited to speak, but sent a letter explaining he was unable to attend.

Bricker and other candidates were introduced by J. F. McMahon, who was in charge of the meeting.

A number of Mansfielders were at the party to hear Bricker's talk.

A feature of the day's program was a parachute jump at 6 p. m. by Miss Gretchen Reighard of Mansfield, who landed within 50 feet of the park.

The Alumni band played a concert in the evening and Miss Genevieve Reindl entertained with accordion numbers. There were ball games, tennis matches and boxing bouts during the afternoon and evening.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

ONCE CITY NEEDED CEMENT, NOW THERE'S TOO MUCH AVAILABLE

One month ago the WPA "owed" the city for 750 barrels of cement and jobs of 250 workers on the city-wide curb and gutter project were threatened because it had failed to supply its share of the materials on the job.

Today however, that condition had completely reversed itself. The city has been reimbursed for the materials "loaned," WPA has a supply of 600 barrels of cement on hand, another 132 requisitioned and 1,500 barrels purchased for Mansfield projects. But there's no place to use them!

Harold S. Hursh, engineer in charge of Mansfield street projects, said today that he had a supply of cement on hand that would last until Nov. 1, when curb and gutter work is expected to be discontinued for the winter.

He also pointed out that he had another 1,500 barrels available but no projects to use the material on. He said the surplus amount had been gained through the large number of man hours which have accumulated during the past four months. He said the federal government figured its share of materials on the number of man hours accumulated on local projects.

Hursh said that the cement already purchased and ready for shipment to Mansfield would be sent to another city unless the city provided some sort of street work on which the material could be applied.

BARES 'SECRET'

Hitler Shows Off, Reveals Big Cannon to Horthy.

BERLIN — (INS) — Chancellor Adolf Hitler staged a gigantic military show in Berlin today in honor of Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, and the new co-operation between Hungary and the Nazi Reich.

Clearly for the purpose of impressing his visitor, Hitler drew back the curtain shrouding one of Germany's latest army secrets and revealed the largest cannon seen anywhere in Europe since the World war.

Horthy, attired in an admiral's uniform, watched the spectacular parade with intense interest. The entire diplomatic corps, including United States Ambassador Hugh Wilson, and all military attaches were present.

OK'S 2 ASHLAND ELECTION PLEAS

State Tax Commission Gives Approval on City, Township Bond Issue Votes.

ASHLAND—Word of the approval of the state taxing commission to hold two special elections on Sept. 21 was received here late yesterday.

The permission granted by the tax commission allows the city of Ashland to have placed on the ballot the question which will determine whether the local general taxation bond issue which would raise $165,000 will be approved.

The other special election to be held in Montgomery township is to raise $55,000 as the local grant to be used to build a new centralized elementary school and a school bus garage.

In the municipal question, the $165,000 will be augmented by $135,000 in the form of a PWA grant already approved. The funds will be used for a sanitary sewer system and a new plant.

The township vote has already been granted $45,000, and the project to build the school was held up by the failure of voters to give the 65 per cent approval at the ballot.

GOES TO COURT

Nan Britton Fights for Part of Florida Man's Estate.

MIAMI, Fla.—(U.P.)—Nan Britton of Chicago, whose book, The President's Daughter, was an American sensation, is seeking to have probated the will of Alben Freeman, an eccentric one-time millionaire.

Freeman made her daughter his chief beneficiary but his estate at death was worth less than enough to bury him.

Miss Britton, who said in her book that President Warren G. Harding was the father of her daughter, asked that the will be probated to establish legal title for the daughter to a pro rata share in the estate should any assets be discovered.

URGES WAGNER ACT CHANGE AS RECOVERY HELP

U. S. Chamber Refers to Forces Working Against Solution of Business Recession.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The United States Chamber of Commerce recommended changes in the Wagner labor relations act today to correct what it termed "influences working strongly against economic recovery."

George H. Davis, president of the chamber, criticized both the act and its administration in a statement which followed President Roosevelt's announcement that some revision of the law would be considered.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters last week he had no specific changes in mind but he agreed with President William Green of the American Federation of Labor that the act should be clarified.

Recommends Amendments.

Davis said the chamber of commerce wanted amendments to:

Prohibit coercion of employes by union groups and others, as well as by employers.

Define unfair labor practices so that unions also would be held responsible.

Permit employers to ask action of the labor board. This now is limited to employes.

Davis charged that the board's proceedings "have not been fair and impartial and there has been ample demonstration of the fact that the legislation has not fulfilled its stated purposes of lessening industrial disputes."

He asserted the act did not provide "adequate protection against encroachment by majorities upon the rights of individuals."

The majority rule actually operates to prevent large numbers of employes from being represented by labor organizations of their own selection," he said.

(The law provides that workers have the right to organize and bargain collectively with their employers through representative of their own choosing. It forbids employers to interfere with the exercise of that right).

JAIL MOTHER OF TWO IN SHOOTING

Neighbor Youth She Planned To Wed Also Jailed.

GALLIPOLIS —(INS)— Charged with shooting Lloyd Angell, 29, from ambush with intent to kill, Mrs. Angell, 20, mother of two children, and Delbert Blazer, 17, a neighbor, were held for the grand jury today.

Blazer was said by Sheriff E. E. Hatfield to have admitted the shooting because he expected to marry Mrs. Angell. Angell, his left eye shot out, and his arms and torso punctured with shot, was in a serious condition in a hospital.

Angell was shot as he stepped from his automobile to open a gate across the road from his home in Green township.

SEIZES BIRDHOUSE

SABBATUS, Me. — (U.P.) — Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Holden were disappointed when for the first time in years martins didn't take up residence in the house provided for them. But the mystery was solved when they saw a squirrel mother carrying her offspring, one by one, from the birdhouse.

Park, son of Mrs. Anna Park, 555 Prospect street, was announced Wednesday. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. N. W. Sager, former Bucyrus pastor. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Struble.

Mr. and Mrs. Park will live in the Leuthold apartments.

CHAPTER 25

THE LETTER from Jimmy which Noel found in Laurie's purse read as follows:

"Dear Laurie: I can't persuade her to see reason. But even if we can't be married, there's no harm in seeing each other once in a while. Please let me see you, won't you, dear?

"JIMMY."

There was no address on the letter. There wasn't even Jimmy's last name. But on the back of the envelope, Noel did find an address Two eighty-eight Bickford was written in small letters.

At last Noel was sure she would be able to find Jimmy She asked Ruth Chester to come out in the hall, and explained that she was going to find Jimmy and might be away an hour or so

"You're very sentimental, aren't you?" Ruth Chester said superciliously.

"I believe finding Jimmy would have a lot to do with Laurie's getting well," Noel said quietly

Ruth Chester lifted her beautifully arched dark brows "I'm the one to do the thinking around here. You're merely supposed to carry out orders."

"I'm going to find Jimmy whether you instruct me to or not," Noel said with quiet emphasis, fighting back a wave of anger There was something about Ruth's superior attitude that aroused her, no matter how hard she tried to control herself

* * *

Before leaving, Noel asked Mrs Blarsom to stay within call of the sick room until she returned Mrs Blarsom agreed rather ungraciously

A few minutes later Noel was off on her errand. Bickford was on the north side of town and Court street on the south, so Noel had to go entirely across the city.

At last she found herself in front of a neat white cottage with frilly curtains in the windows, the number 288 on the curb in front of the house

A neat, elderly woman in a big wrap-around white apron, her gray hair in curlers, answered the door.

"I want to see a young man by the name of Jimmy. I don't know his last name, but it's very important that I see him," Noel couldn't keep the eagerness from her voice.

"He isn't here," the woman said 'He lived here about a month ago, I think," the woman said, looking regretfully into Noel's anxious face

"Do you know where he is now?" Noel asked in a voice that hoped against hope

The woman shook her head. "No, I don't You see, I didn't know him"

"Then you don't know his last name?" Noel asked, feeling suddenly sick at heart She had had every confidence that she would find Jimmy, but she felt that every hope she had was now slipping away.

The woman didn't know his last name Then Noel asked if she had any idea where he worked The woman shook her head again

"I just know that a man by the name of Jimmy lived in this house about a month ago and moved away" the woman said regretfully. Then added 'Give me your name and telephone number If I can find out anything about him I'll let you know"

Noel gave her the information, but she didn't have much hope that she would hear from her

There wasn't anything else to do but to go home and admit failure and possibly hear Ruth Chester say, 'I told you it was a foolish idea

But when Noel reached home she was in for a surprise Julian was there He had taken charge of the case He and Ruth Chester were bending over Laurie's bed their faces intent and grave There was something about their expressions that brought a fresh chill to Noel's heart

"I'm going to change the treatment and try the ox-blood ' she heard Julian say as he straightened up Its our only chance," he added

'You're exactly right Doctor Paige" Ruth answered in her low rich voice

Then Julian saw Noel He came over to her I hadn't any idea of being called on this case when you were in my office Doctor Merridew has been trying to get in touch with me for several days and only succeeded after you left '

"I'm so glad so glad you're here," Noel murmured I know you can save Laurie I know you can"

"I hope I can justify your faith, Julian said gravely Then asked Who is this chap Jimmy? She murmurs his name over and over I think it might be well to have him here

Before Noel could answer, Ruth interposed. "Nobody seems to know anything about him, Doctor Paige I think myself we should have him here There's a psychological effect to that sort of thing"

Noel looked at her, an expression on her face of silent disgust But Ruth smiled sweetly and went on "Miss Shayne has been trying to find him."

Noel explained, then, the efforts she had made and how she had failed to find any trace of Jimmy.

A thoughtful frown came to Julian's face. "There should be some way we could trace him," he said, then added, "Laurie is very ill, Noel There's only a fighting chance."

"But you will save her I know you will," Noel exclaimed passionately.

A little while later she went over to the nearest drug store to get a prescription filled When she came back, Julian and Ruth were talking together, quietly and earnestly just outside the sick room door

Noel went in and sat down beside Laurie She could not keep the tears from her eyes when she looked at the wasted little form, the white, ravaged face This was the first time she had ever been face to face with anything so terrible as death Still she would not —could not believe—that Laurie would die

Then Julian and Ruth came back to the bedside, and Noel moved away For something like 10 minutes they stood there studying Laurie's condition, nodding at each other now and then in silent understanding.

Noel had never seen two people work together in such perfect harmony as Julian and Ruth Chester. It seemed that the nurse anticipated his every need, even his thoughts.

Seeing them together, realizing how much they had in common, Noel relinquished every faint hope she had had that some day she and Julian would find each other.

Julian was a real man Thoughtful, highly intelligent. He knew what he wanted. To him Ruth Chester seemed an ideal woman—the perfect mate. Noel remembered only too well that Julian had said that a marriage between himself and Ruth Chester would be most suitable, had they been attracted to each other. And it was plain enough now to see that an attraction did exist between them. They seemed to belong together.

Sitting out in a chair in the hall, so as to be close when needed, Noel was aroused from her thoughts by Julian's grave voice. "I didn't know until Ruth told me that you were helping out during the day. Are you still dancing at —that place?"

She nodded. There wasn't anything else to do but admit the truth. Then Julian said, "Miss Chester thinks we should make different arrangements."

* * *

Noel might have expected this. Ruth Chester's plan didn't include having Noel around where Julian could see her every day.

'Noel's first impulse was to come out frankly and say that she wasn't going to give up staying with Laurie during the day just because Ruth Chester didn't want her. But instead she asked quietly: "Don't you think I'm capable of really helping?"

"I've not been here long enough to judge as to that." Julian answered frankly.

Noel's expression fell. Then she looked up at him eagerly and said: "Kitty Perry said I obeyed instructions well. And I'm not going to leave Laurie during the day, unless — unless," but she didn't finish.

Julian looked at her gravely. "But I thought you were doing it only because there didn't seem to be any other way?"

CHARGE UTILITY GAVE GIFTS TO OHIO ENGINEERS

Attorneys In Columbus Gas Rate Case Claim State Employes Got 'Favors.'

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Charges that two engineers employed by the Ohio Public Utilities commission received merchandise gifts from a Columbus Gas company in 1935 were filed with the commission today by attorneys for the city of Columbus.

State employes named were L. F. Dabe, the commission's chief engineer for gas company regulation, and O. F. Foster, a member of its engineering staff.

Company officials alleged to have authorized the transactions were Edwin M. Tharp, vice president and general manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., and Herman H. Hall, district manager for that firm.

Photographic copies of vouchers and office memoranda, allegedly found in the company's files, were submitted to the commission in support of the charges.

City Attorney John L. Davies and his special counsel, James W. Huffman and John W. Bricker, presented the complaint to the commission.

Gifts Forbidden.

The city attorneys called the utilities commission's attention to a section of the state law which forbids a commission employe to accept any gift or emolument from a utility company, and which provides discharge from the state service as a penalty for violation.

The city attorneys presented their charges informally to the utilities commission last Friday. At that time, the commission declined to make public the nature of the discussion

The formal filing today made the matter one of public record.

As presented today, the city's reference to the commission engineers constituted part of a protest against the inclusion of the gift costs in operating expenses which the gas company claims should be allowed in the Columbus gas rate case now before the commission.

The amount to be allowed for operating costs is a point in dispute in the rate case, in which the company is attacking the 48-cent ordinance rate as inadequate and confiscatory.

Engineers and acocuntants employed by the city, under the direction of J. Paul Blundon, Keyser, W. Va., consulting engineer, to compile evidence for the rate case discovered the alleged transactions in their checking of the company's books, the city attorneys said.

Both engineers named are veteran employes of the utilities commission. Dabe was hired May 1, 1922, and Foster Aug. 15, 1914, according to state records.

As chief engineer, Dabe was one of three signers of an official report to the commission in July, defending the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.'s dilution of gas served to Columbus and many other cities.

RELIEF PROBLEM

Shelby Lacks Funds to Meet August Bills.

SHELBY—With Shelby's relief coffers empty, Finance Director Bert Fix disclosed today that unless additional revenue is available by September that the city would not be able to meet its August relief bills.

Although allotted about $400 by the county commissioners as this city's share of taxes for relief, Fix said that no check had been received here as yet. Shelby's relief costs amount to $1,000 a month, Fix said, with additional expense expected this fall when fuel would be need by relief clients.

City officials today hoped that Shelby two PWA projects for the municipal water and electric companies, calling for an expenditure of $300,000, would relieve the relief rolls of a number of persons unemployed at present. Bids for contractors for the projects will be let next month, city officials said.

About 250 persons remain on the relief rolls here, Gain Haun, public welfare clerk, stated, while others are employed on WPA projects in the city

PLANT TO OPEN

GALION—At 2 o'clock today Galion's new sewage treatment plant was slated for its initial operation. The plant which cost around $90,000, has been under construction since the first of the year. The plant was a PWA project. The city received a $40,098 federal grant, and the city in Nov. 1936, had voted a $60,000 bond issue for the construction.

Guests present today to see the plant start its operation include Paul A. Uhlmann, of Columbus, designing engineer Mayor W. M. King, Service Director Jay F. Nichols, Contractor H. A. Morris of Bever-Morris.

Bar Public From Future Un-Americanism Hearings

PROBERS FEAR DISORDERS AT NEW INQUIRIES

Dies Predicts Efforts Will Be Made to Break Up Quiz at Open Sessions.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Charging that an organized campaign is underway to discredit the house un-American activities committee, Chairman Martin Dies (D) Texas, announced today that spectators will be barred from hearings held outside of Washington.

"We will invite newspaper men to be present along with the witnesses," said Dies. "We know that efforts would be made to break up the hearings if they were thrown wide open to spectators."

Future hearings, under the committee plan, will deal more extensively with communist activities in various parts of the country.

Fears Stifiers.

"We knew before we started that efforts would be made to stifle the work of this committee in investigating un-American activities," said Dies. "Ridicule, distortion of testimony, general denials and demonstrations are methods by which opponents of a searching investigation hope to hamstring the committee.

"Ninety per cent of the thousands of letters received by the committee, however, endorse its investigation and show that keen interest has been aroused by the testimony.

"One outstanding fact appears. We announced that any person or organization named in the hearing would have an opportunity to reply under oath. To this date but one individual has appeared, and it was evident that he sought to create a disturbance."

Dies expressed regret that Republican members had asked questions at the hearing designed to bring the New Deal into the inquiry.

"You can't control members of the committee," he added.

Charges 'Sabotage' Attempt.

Within the last three days, he asserted, an employe of the committee was approached by a group of persons he said were seeking to "sabotage" the investigation and urged to become a "stooge" to supply inside information.

Dies also explained that greater latitude was given organization witnesses than will be given those subpoenaed by the committee. Unless they were given latitude, he said, the committee could be accused of stifling testimony.

Vets of Foreign Wars Take Stand Against Warfare

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Veterans of Foreign Wars took a firm stand today against foreign entanglements that might lead the United States into war in resolutions adopted at their 39th annual national encampment.

Delegates rejected resolutions calling for withdrawal of diplomatic relations with Russia, a boycott of Japanese goods and condemnation of Mexico for expropriation of foreign oil interests.

In a colorful climax to band and bugle corps contests last night in Ohio State university stadium, Royal Oak, Mich., and Upper Darby, Pa., won the national bugle corps championships and $1,000 prizes in senior and junior divisions, respectively.

The Warren, O., band became the national senior champion while Evansville, Ind., took the junior band championship. Manchester, Conn., retained its open bugle corps title.

The women's bugle corps from Erie, Pa., and the women's drill team from Des Moines, Ia., took top honors in their respective divisons.

DIES IN SHELBY

Mrs. Edna Terman, 39, Succumbs After 10-Month Illness.

SHELBY—Mrs. Edna Ruth Terman, 39, a native of Crawford county, died this morning at her home here following an illness of 10 months.

Born Nov. 7, 1898 in Bucyrus, Mrs. Terman had been a resident of Shelby for the past 21 years. She was a member of the United Brethren church.

Surviving are her husband, James, a son, James, jr., her father, William Nelson of Virginana, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Myers of Bucyrus. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

WETZEL FUNERAL FRIDAY

Funeral services for Frank E. Wetzel, 53, of 25 Washington avenue, who died Tuesday after an extended illness, will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Friday with Rev. Milton Engelhardt, assistant pastor of First Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Raid Slums for Torso Killer's Hide-Out

Up and Down THE STREET

Roy Wilkins, Ashland road, had a dog who had lost her puppies, so he thought something should be done about the three orphan puppies mentioned in this column two days ago. A few hours after the story had been printed about the pups, which were owned by Mrs. Clifford Heaton, 171 Vennum avenue, the little animals, only a week old, had a new mother at Wilkins' home. Their own mother was killed by an automobile.

* * *

Perhaps his ancestors were gold fish—but anyway the driver of an interstate truck takes his rest where he can find it. This morning he had parked his truck at the foot of Ashland hill, had flares around it—indicating he had parked during the night—and was sound asleep on the cushions which he had placed on the curb, with only a thin blanket and the morning sun above him. Rumbling trucks, grinding brakes and back-firing failed to disturb him as he slumbered on the edge of the highway.

* * *

Rev. and Mrs. M. G. Nicola and their two youngsters are vacationing in Provincetown—according to Cleveland's Philosopher of Folly, Ted Robinson. In his today's column, written from the New England city, he tells of a visit from "Clerinic" of Mansfield, and his family. "And so you need expect no further contribution from Clerinic for awhile," Robinson writes in the Plain Dealer, "because he is on his vacation, too, and if I have my way, I shall keep him and his delightful family here until his parish sends out a searching party." As most Mansfielders are aware, "Clerinic" is Rev. Nicola of Grace Episcopal church whose frequent contributions of poetry and literary paragraphs are among the best that appear in Robinson's column.

* * *

Louis Bromfield, the former Mansfielder who has made a place for himself among the best contemporary writers, like O. O. McIntyre, wants to retire to a place along the Ohio river, if one can believe the columnists. Bromfield is scheduled to come back to America this fall and to Ohio for the purpose of looking for an old farm home. There's a possibility too, that he may be leaving his French chateau to go to Hollywood to supervise the filming of his last novel "The Rains Came," although he has frankly admitted that it will take a lot of money to get him to put up with the Hollywood "madness."

SHARE IN PWA

Four Communities in Vicinity Receive Federal Grants.

Four cities in the Mansfield area shared today in the allocation of $10,544,051 in PWA grants for the construction of schools and public buildings.

The major allotment in the district went to Loudonville which received $96,545 for a school addition.

The Galion city council was allocated $36,000 for a new city hall, and Greenwich, in Huron county, got $15,136 for a new municipal building.

The city of Ashland was allotted $6,300 for a new institutional building.

Sub-divisions which received the federal funds must provide their share of the cost of the proposed buildings by Oct. 1, or the funds will be withheld, PWA announced.

HUNTER CALLS COUNCIL AGAIN

Special Session Friday Night, Second of Week, Planned to Clean Up Docket.

For the second time this week city council will meet in special session Friday night to consider legislation that could not be acted upon at Tuesday's meeting because of the absence of four members.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter said he had called the meeting with the hope of having at least seven members present so several pieces of legislation could be acted upon.

One measure to be approved is final legislation authorizing the improvement of Forest avenue from Marion avenue to Bartley avenue. The measure calls for the issuance of street assessment bonds in the amount of $11,000 to meet the property owners' share while the city's share, set at $1,200, is to be paid from the automobile registration fee fund.

Another ordinance calls for an appropriation of $250 as the city's share on a WPA real property inventory project to be sponsored jointly by the city and county.

A measure ordering the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to maintain and reconstruct with steel the approaches and crossways of the North Main street crossing is also on the docket.

RACING OFFICIAL DEAD

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A heart ailment today was held responsible for the death of Herbert J. Kohl, 51, prominent Ohio racing official. In recent years Kohl had been employed at tracks here, at Dayton, Akron and Ravenna.

FACE QUESTIONS

Relief Clients Must Swear to Financial Status.

Relief administration officials today faced the job of re-classifying the 1,300 families now on relief in Mansfield and Madison township.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist said the taking of financial statements from all persons receiving aid from the city and township was started today as prescribed in the new Ohio Relief law.

Those receiving either direct or work relief from any agency distributing funds supplied by the state are required to execute a financial statement, sworn to before a notary public, Nist said.

The new regulation, aimed at "chiseling", is to become effective Sept. 1 when all persons now on relief rolls must have had their statement taken.

LIMA HUNTS GUNMEN

LIMA—(INS)—Police searched today for two middle aged "well dressed robbers" who entered a downtown cafeteria at closing time and took $298 at the point of a gun.

ROOSEVELT AFTER CHANCE IN ELECTION LAW? HAMILTON ASKS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Republican Chairman John Hamilton contends that President Roosevelt "must have had his tongue in cheek" when he criticized Republican participation in Democratic primaries.

Issuing a statement shortly after two Democratic senators—Brown of Michigan and Sheppard of Texas—had expressed agreement with the president's comment, Hamilton said last night:

"Taken seriously, Mr. Roosevelt's remarks constitute an indictment of the election laws of a number of states.

"If Republicans have or intend to participate in Democratic primaries—and there is no conclusive proof that they have or so intend—it has been and will be in accordance with the provisions of state laws.

"Does Mr. Roosevelt now propose to sponsor some kind of federal 'force' law to compel the states to revise their election laws to suit his views?"

As for the Republican national committee, Hamilton added:

"If any Republicans have voted in Democratic primaries it is because they sincerely believe that the best interests of the country would be served by the defeat of candidates sponsored by the president.

"It is our desire that Republicans keep out of Democratic primaries because we confidently believe that Republican prospects are enhanced by the nomination of New Deal Democrats this year."

The president's denunciation of the crossing of party lines in primaries was provoked by the Idaho Democratic primary, in which Sen. James P. Pope lost to Rep. D. Worth Clark, a self-styled conservative.

200 AT TEMPLAR PICNIC IN PARK

Knights and Families Spend Afternoon, Evening at Outing.

About 200 members of Mansfield Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar, and their families, attended the Templar picnic held Wednesday afternoon and evening at North Lake park.

A picnic supper and corn roast was served at 6:30 p. m. During the afternoon a program of contests and games was held for women and children. Concessions at the park were open to children.

Following the supper, the Knight Templar band, directed by J. Merton Holcombe, presented a concert.

Arrangements for the outing were in charge of a committee made up of Ed Becker, chairman, Harry Henness, John VanCura, Earl Irvin, E. L. Hudson and Walter Burrier.

CHURCH ROBBER

Chicagoan Says He Made Living Looting Poor Boxes.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Neal Brado, 58, made his living robbing church poor boxes.

So he testified in court yesterday before being sentenced to 90 days in the house of correction.

Detectives said he fished coins through the box slots by means of a steel strip coated with mucilage.

EDITOR DROWNED

BALTIMORE—(U.P.)—Local and coast guard officials searched today for the body of Paul J. Banker, assistant managing editor of the Baltimore Sun, who was drowned yesterday while sailing on Chesapeake bay.

BELIEVE HEADS OF VICTIMS ARE IN 'SHACKTOWN'

Cleveland Detectives Search Homes in 'Roaring Third' in Maniac Hunt.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — Police investigated a slum district today following new clues to a homicidal maniac who in four years has butchered 13 persons.

They raided house after house in the "roaring third" precinct expecting to find, if successful, the hiding place of "the mad butcher of Kingsbury run" and seven human heads.

They were hunting particularly a man known as "Gus," a gutter scavenger well known around the Central market area where detectives had traced a fish packing box that contained parts of a mutilated body found last week.

The fish box and other clues, found beside the bodies of the fiend's 12th and 13th victims, limited the area of the search to the third precinct.

Hunt Missing Heads.

The murders, which began in 1934 and have continued since at regular intervals, obviously have been the work of a degenerate, probably a maniac. The bodies have been found along the waterfront, on Kingsbury run, and in dumping grounds and have been in such condition that only three have been identified and only six had heads.

Detective Peter Merylo, who has been working on the case four years, decided that the missing heads were hidden or buried at the murderer's home.

A clerk in the market area told Merylo that he had seen "Gus" pick up some discarded fish boxes last June.

Police despaired of tracing a quilt that was wrapped around one of the bodies found last week, although for two days it had been a good clue.

300 AT OUTING

First Aid Picnic to Be Made an Annual Event.

The first picnic for all persons in the county who are trained in Red Cross First Aid was held at South park last night and it was voted to make the event an annual one.

About 300 persons attended the dinner and program which was presided over by Atty. Harold Burns, member of the executive committee. Joseph Leverenz, district representative from national Red Cross, was the speaker and talked on accident prevention.

Two first aid demonstrations were given; one by the Ohio Public Service team which used the new type of splints and bandages, and another by the Oak Hall girls team. They used one of their members for a demonstration of 20 properly applied bandages.

GONGWER, MILLER BOTH 'WINNERS'

They're Elected by Followers Meeting In Two Places.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Two organizations today continued their bitter fight for control of the powerful Democratic party machine in Cuyahoga county.

At a meeting called last night by W. Burr Gongwer his supporters re-elected him central committee chairman.

In a hall only two blocks distant from the Gongwer faction gathering, backers of Ray T. Miller named the former mayor their chairman.

Both groups claim to be the "official party."

Ohio's Pensioners to Get Aid on Time This Month.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—With 85,000 checks to old age pensioners in the mails, the division of aid for the aged announced today that all of the 112,000 checks would be delivered on time this month despite the financial difficulties of the division.

It was necessary to borrow $415,000 from the general revenue fund to meet the state's share of the monthly bill—about $1,300,000.

Gunmen in a Hurry, Leave Own $10 Bill at Gas Station.

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—It was a hurry-up job for the two bandits who held up Charles Whitney, filling station attendant.

They handed Whitney $10 for a quart of oil, received $9.70 in change, then took $5 additional from the till.

In their hurry they left their $10 bill in the register.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Many Expect Doctors to Save Their Lives, Never Expect to Pay the Bill.

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—It is coming on toward the deadline, so there is not enough time today to settle here, for good and all, the issue of socialized medicine.

However, there are some letters at hand which will do for fuel for argument, one contending that a doctor is overpaid at $200 for doing an appendectomy and saving a solvent patient's life.

"We could not do without water for a month," says this one, and adds that we would starve for lack of food, proceeding then to challenge: "Is a month's supply of water necessarily worth $200? And one who charged a starving man $200 for a single meal—wouldn't he be regarded as devoid of humanity?"

Well, a drink of water has been known to sell high in certain frontier places where water was packed in casks on burros, and in such cases, if a man lacked a dollar, or whatever the price to pay for a drink, the price might as well have been $200 as far as he was concerned.

The same argument goes for the single meal to save a life. Many a bum with a thin dime in his pocket has been turned back into the snow because the price of a flop in some fleabag on South Clark or West Madison street, Chicago, or on the Bowery, New York, was 15 cents, and there is just no reckoning the number of hungry men who have gazed in at the windows of restaurants and continued to starve because they couldn't buy a cup of coffee and a roll, much less a meal. In such cases, what difference does it make whether the price of a flop or a meal is 15 cents or $200?

I doubt that, even in frontier desert places, any man ever perished for lack of the price of a glass of water, but there are thousands of doctors who give away free the same service that would be unavailable to desperately sick people if they insisted on their full fees. But, a little lower specimen of insect life than the doctor who won't treat the sick poor free, is that type of man or woman who can pay a reasonable amount for relief from suffering, but imposes on the doctor's circumstances and his charity.

A widow of a doctor residing in Washington writes of a government clerk whose little boy had been carried through a desperate illness, and who then said to the doctor, "I know I owe you a bill and I am sorry I can't pay it, but I am buying my house and that keeps me strapped."

A doctor writes: "I spend half my time in charity wards and clinics," and tells of a midnight call to a suicide case which kept him up all night and required daily service for 10 days. When the patient got well, the doctor sent a bill, and finally sued. But, on the very day the court gave judgment for his fee, the patient jumped to another state.

Another doctor says Bismarck gave Germany state medicine 50 years ago, and that nothing new in medicine has come out of Germany, formerly a leader in scientific medical investigation, in 25 years, while the profession in this country has eradicated malaria, yellow fever, typhoid, diphtheria and scarlet fever.

* * *

He says, too, that his British friends say the British panel doctor is less careful, considerate and conscientious than others, and that "the recipient of this service would prefer to call other than a panel doctor."

And here is a man charged $2,000 for an abdominal operation who thinks the doctor robbed him to equalize his service to the poor.

A fair suggestion, but listen to him. He gets $10,000 a year, he says, after his income taxes are paid, and he thinks $2,000 is too much to pay for the saving of his life.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ten years ago, talking pictures turned Hollywood upside down. A movie with dialogue had brought new customers to the boxoffice. Producers raced to get into the field with their new product. In a series of four articles, of which this is the first, Robbin Coons tells about that great Hollywood shake-up and the changes "10 Years of Talkies" have wrought in the studios.

HOLLYWOOD—Ten years ago. . . .

"Sound effects will enhance but dialogue will be a detriment to enjoyment of screen entertainment," said Joseph M. Schenck.

Jesse L. Lasky was "not so sure dialogue will be a success."

Samuel Goldwyn cautiously predicted that sound effects would be useful, but talk—!

Amusing, isn't it, after ten years of talkies? But typical, none the less, of the views of Hollywood in general. Everybody was talking about talk in 1928, because talk was coming to the screen, was already on it.

Two years before, a New York audience had seen and heard a program of Vitaphone shorts and a silent "Don Juan" with synchronized musical score. A few months before, Al Jolson had startled movie-goers into a wild box-office rush by speaking lines and singing on the screen in "The Jazz Singer." Now he had done it again in "The Singing Fool." Talk had to be faced!

Most of the movie population devoutly wished that the Warner Brothers, first film producers to sponsor the Vitaphone, had quit before they began. Soon they wished that Al Jolson had never happened into town, with a show, just when George Jessel was balking because the Warners would not meet his salary demands. The talkies were a baffling, serious threat to complacent Hollywood—and nobody dared guess what they would do to the industry.

* * *

But Warners kept blithely on. Their "part-talkies" like "Glorious Betsy" (Conrad Nagel and Dolores Costello starred) minted money. Their talking, singing "shorts" were doing things to rival theaters who couldn't get them.

And then the first ALL-TALKING picture! Producer Bryan Foy took a short subject, stretched it to feature length, and called it, "The Lights of New York." "Sensational!" groaned Hollywood, watching the gold pour in.

In that summer ten years ago the Warner studio (now a radio broadcasting station) was the only one in town equipped to make sound pictures. Other studios, aghast, pooled resources on an experiment with equipment for recording on film—a method different from Vitaphone which used wax disc records. This new equipment was located on the Paramount lot, where other studios could record "dialogue scenes" for splicing into their completed silent films. The scramble for talkie dollars was on.
